

Bindery Copy

LIBRARY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF

32 112

DEC 4 1933

WOMAN'S COLLEGE
UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

The
ALUMNAE
NEWS

NOVEMBER, 1933

THE WOMAN'S COLLEGE
OF
THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA
GREENSBORO, N. C.

THE ALUMNAE NEWS

PUBLISHED FOUR TIMES A YEAR: JULY, NOVEMBER, FEBRUARY AND APRIL BY THE ALUMNAE AND FORMER STUDENTS ASSOCIATION OF THE WOMAN'S COLLEGE OF THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA, GREENSBORO, NORTH CAROLINA SUBSCRIPTION, $2.00 A YEAR (INCLUDING MEMBERSHIP FEE).

MEMBER OF AMERICAN ALUMNI COUNCIL

CLARA BOOTH BYRD, Editor

OFFICERS AND BOARD MEMBERS

JOSIE DOUB BENNETT (MRS. J. R. BENNETT), President
MARJORIE BONITZ BURNS (MRS. T. A. BURNS), Vice President LAURA H. COIT, Honorary President
CLARA B. BYRD, General Secretary

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Sethelle Boyd Lindsay (Mrs. W. S. Lindsay), Ethel Skinner Phillips (Mrs. H. H. Phillips), Mary Poteat, Virginia Brown Douglas (Mrs. R. D. Douglas), Gretchen Taylor Hobbs (Mrs. R. J. M. Hobbs), Lucille Knight, Ruth Fitzgerald, Susan Green Finch (Mrs. Chas. F. Finch), Ruth Clinard, Eoline Everett May (Mrs. Gordon Hill May).

VOL. XXII

NOVEMBER, 1933

No. 2

CONTENTS

UP AND DOWN THE AVENUE	3
MARIAN ANDERSON '32 WINS FELLOWSHIP	5
OUR NATIONAL SELF-RIGHTEOUSNESS — A SOCIAL DETERRENT	6
By Jane Addams
THE TEENY WELTON MEMORIAL	9
THE SURVEY COMMITTEES	10
TO CHARLES D. McIVER	10
THE SPREADING FAMILY TREE	11
MISS MARGARET EDWARDS, HEAD OF THE SCHOOL OF HOME ECONOMICS	13
EDUCATIONAL RELIEF PROGRAM IN HOME ECONOMICS	14
THE "NEW" LIBRARY	15
THE GENERAL VALUE OF MEMBERSHIP IN THE A. A. U. W.	16
THE LOG OF THE CLASS OF 1933	17
"WE DO OUR PART"	20
AFFAIRS OF THE LOCAL CLUBS AND ASSOCIATIONS	21
ETHEL LOUISE BYERLY '32 IN AFRICA	25
MR. C. W. PHILLIPS SAYS	25
AMONG THE ALUMNAE	26
FOUNDER'S DAY MESSAGES	41

• "Let us be determined to preserve the forces of light and understanding in the commonwealth — the only guarantee that the dark days through which we now are passing shall be brought to a close."

• When you have finished reading this copy of the Alumnae News, lend it to some prospective student, and tell her about the opportunities which the Woman's College offers to young women.

THE "RUINS" OF OLD CURRY

MRS. CHARLES D. McIVER, "OUR COLLEGE MOTHER"
Wife of the Founder and First President

Up and Down the Avenue

A CLOSER UNIFICATION of the college as a whole was chosen by the student leaders who met at Camp Silver Pines as the major objective of the Student Government Association this year. In line with this declaration of purpose a Student Activities Committee was organized, of which Dr. Helen Barton, head of the Department of Mathematics, is chairman. Five other members of the faculty are also serving in this group, together with Margaret Plonk and Alice Armfield, president and vice president of the Student Government Association, respectively, and the heads of the other major student units. Also in line with this new purpose, for the first time members of the faculty were invited to meet with the students at the initial mass meeting held in Aycock Auditorium on September 16—an invitation which a good many of the faculty accepted. At this meeting, all new student legislation was explained in detail in an effort to secure all-campus understanding and cooperation.

THIS YEAR A NEW POINT SYSTEM has gone into effect with reference to membership in the Quill Club. Every member of this writing club must be a contributor to at least one of the college publications—Coraddi or Carolinian. Her contributions are evaluated by points, and in order to remain in the club, each member must average at least fifteen points of contributed material each semester.

THE LECTURE SERIES was opened this year with two addresses by Arthur Henderson, Jr., of England. His father is the British Foreign Secretary, and the younger Henderson himself is a member of Parliament, and a well known lecturer on subjects dealing with law and politics.

THE WOMEN'S INTERCOLLEGIATE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION met on the campus the week-end of November 15-18. Delegates from women's colleges east of the Mississippi were eligible to come, and many colleges were represented in the group. Some of the subjects discussed were "Years After College," "Character Building Through Self-Government," "The Responsibility of Students in Solving Present Day Disregard for Law," "What a College Student Should Know about Government." As one of the entertainment features, the Play-Likers presented "The Goose Hangs High" on Thursday evening.

THE ANNUAL LANTERN FESTIVAL, held under the direction of the Y. W. C. A. for the first time in 1926, and since continued under the same auspices, was again a thing of color and quiet enjoyment this year. A frosty Saturday evening late in September was chosen for the date, and the various houses as usual gathered group by group, with lighted lanterns, deep in the heart of Peabody Park. An appreciative audience gathered on the hillsides and listened as the groups sang in turn well known songs developing the theme of the evolution of religion.

THERE WAS NATURALLY GREAT REJOICING when it became known that students would be allowed to have an extended holiday at Thanksgiving this year—for the first time, if you please. They may go home after their last classes on Wednesday, and must reach the campus in time for their first class on Monday. Many students will take advantage of the opportunity this year; others who would have to go long distances will remain. But in any event, there will be a few more turkeys left to tell the tale this year than usual.

MISS COLEMAN, head of the Department of Physical Education, and president of the American Association of Physical Education, was the last chapel hour speaker for October. She discussed the necessity of making our leisure hours count in the development of personality, and reached this conclusion, that if a student leaves college with a conception of wise activity, knowing how to create personal pleasure without having to buy it, and possessing emotional control, she would be well on her way toward being an educated woman.

ONE OF THE NEW "rules and regulations" this year is this: students may have dates in Student's Building on Saturday nights, representatives from each society acting as hostesses in turn. The society halls are being redecorated in beautiful style—really you wouldn't know them; and every one feels that their extended use will add another pleasant feature to the social life of the campus.

MRS. J. R. BENNETT, president of the general alumnae association, was a Y.W. vesper speaker in Aycock the latter part of October. She used as her subject "Man's Relationship with the Laws of Nature." Among her closing words were these: "The highest use to which we can put our minds is to discover the fundamental laws of God and to bring our total selves into accord with these laws."

A SERIES OF TEAS under the auspices of the School of Home Economics is being sponsored this year. Majors in this subject are hostesses in the sitting room of the building, and members of the faculty and their friends are invited to drop in and have a cup of tea.

THE COLLEGE CHORUS, under the direction of Dean Brown, is rehearsing Rossini's Stabat Mater. The afternoon of December 10 has been fixed as the date of the public performance. The College Orchestra will also assist.

MR. FORNEY AND MISS PETTY have the same birthday—November 10. This year they were honored at a dinner given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Foust. Good food, good conversation and good fellowship sped the hours all too quickly and numerous "toys" for the young recipients added merriment. Among those present were Mrs. Charles D. McIver, Dr. and Mrs. Foust, Miss Petty, Miss Annie Petty, Dr. Gove, Miss Fort, Miss Jamison, Mrs. Weatherspoon, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Young, and Miss Edna Forney. Miss Bruère sent a telegram from New York City.

MRS. McIVER is able to walk around the house with the aid of a crutch, but when going outside a wheel chair is needed. She was one of the happiest persons at the birthday party, and was herself a center of many good wishes.

DR. ALBERT S. KEISTER was elected vice president of the Southern Economic Association at its annual conference in Atlanta the middle of November. As one of the speakers on the program, he discussed "The Public Finance of Greensboro, North Carolina, Through a Business Cycle." Dr. Keister is a member of the Greensboro City Council.

MISS HARRIETT ELLIOTT has been named as a member of the State Relief Committee—a committee which has charge of dispensing money and material appropriated by the Federal Government to relieve distress in the state.

"SPECIAL LIBRARIANSHIP AS A CAREER" is the title of a study which has just been published in booklet form by the Institute of Women's Professional Relations. It is a reprint from the Clip Sheet. Suth Savord is the author.

KIRBY PAGE, editor of the World Tomorrow, was a chapel hour speaker in Aycock the middle of November. He gave two additional lectures, the concluding one being a discussion of Communism, Fascism, Socialism.

MRS. CHASE GOING WOODHOUSE addressed the general session of the Indiana State Teachers Association which met in Indianapolis during October. While away she also spoke to the students of Purdue University and those of the University of Indiana. As incidents to her journey, made by automobile, she spoke to Altrusa Clubs all along the way. Mrs. Woodhouse is president of the National Federation of Altrusa Clubs.

THERE IS A LOST AND FOUND BUREAU this year—Spencer, room 94, is its location. Jessibeth Whitlock is in charge, with able assistance from the Senior Class. A file is kept, describing each article turned in, with the name of the finder. If the article is not claimed at the end of four weeks, it is returned to the finder.

IBSEN'S "GHOSTS" had a powerful interpretation at the hands of Madame Borgny Hammer, Norwegian actress, and her company, the latter part of October. Indeed the impression left upon the large audience which assembled in Aycock to see this presentation was nothing short of profound.

THE SCHOOL OF MUSIC was host to the Fifth Annual Conference of Music Teachers the latter part of October. Dr. Hollis Dann, of New York University, and Edwin F. Goldman, of the Goldman Band, both of New York, were guest speakers for the occasion. About one hundred teachers were present.

PROFESSOR GEORGE THOMPSON is giving a series of Sunday afternoon organ recitals in the Recital Hall of the Music Building. The opening number of the first program was Bach's ever beautiful Prelude and Fugue in B Minor. He concluded with the Fantasia and Fugue in G Minor.

THE SEDALIA SINGERS gave a vesper program of songs and negro spirituals on a Sunday evening in November.

DR. W. W. PEELE, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Charlotte, delivered the Founder's Day address this year in Aycock Auditorium.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE sent the first student deputation team to the college this year. They had charge of Y. W. vespers in the Music Building on a Sunday evening in October, and gave a program of music and of talks. Another deputation team came from Salem College.

THE CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS gave a performance of Paul Green's House of Connelly in Aycock Auditorium early in November. It was excellently done, and bore evidence of much attention to the details of authentic costuming, dancing, and singing.

MARIAN ANDERSON '32 WINS FELLOWSHIP

There was general rejoicing on the campus when news came early in the fall that Marian Anderson had been awarded a graduate fellowship for a year of study at the Juilliard Foundation in New York City. The audition at the Foundation came on October 2 and 3. Marian studied in New York last year as winner of the Weil Fellowship here at Woman's College. During the latter part of the summer she spent several weeks with her teachers, the Lhévinnes, in Seal Harbor, Maine. The early part of vacation was passed with her parents in Cuba.

Marian says it is a busy life she is leading now. Mondays she has English literature with John Erskine and counterpoint with Bernard Wagenaar; Wednesdays, advanced ear training with Wagenaar, and piano with the Lhévinnes; Thursdays, a three-hour lecture course on How to Teach Music to the layman, with Olga Samaroff. All courses require much preparation. The confidence of her college is with her.

Our National Self-Righteousness— A Social Deterrent

By JANE ADDAMS

OUR NATIONAL self-righteousness, often honestly disguised as patriotism, in one aspect is part of that adolescent self-assertion which the United States has never quite outgrown, and which is sometimes crudely expressed, both by individuals and nations, in sheer boasting. In another aspect it is that complacency which we associate with the elderly who, feeling justified by their own successes, have completely lost the faculty of self-criticism. Innocent as such a combination may be, it is unfortunate that it should have been intensified at this particular moment when humility of spirit and a willingness to reconsider existing institutions are so necessary to world salvation.

To illustrate—Senator Borah suggested that the cancellation of war debts owed by the allied European nations to the United States be considered with the provision that the nations which take advantage of the offer shall consent to reduce their armaments. And yet the United States makes no proposition to disarm itself! This is doubtless due to the fact that we are fully convinced of our own righteousness, of our own beneficent intentions; but this very attitude toward ourselves may make the offer unacceptable to other nations.

It is not difficult to trace the historic beginning of such a national self-righteousness. The persecuted religious sects which first settled so much of the Atlantic Coast were naturally convinced that they bore witness to the highest truth and were therefore the chosen people. William Penn, who bought from the Indians every acre of land in his own royal grant, said that he visited the various communities "who were of a separating and seeking turn of mind," and in spite of his insistence upon religious freedom, he was ever surrounded by a good many "come-outers." These very separatists, from Plymouth to Philadelphia, who ultimately federated into the Thirteen Colonies, probably achieved it as much through a similarity of temperament as through a common devotion to political doctrines. They undoubtedly bequeathed both to their successors, and certainly the former made a very good foundation for this national trait.

Another historic manifestation of the spirit of superiority so easily turned into self-righteousness, is discovered as early as 1830 in a national attitude toward the European immigrants who came over in ever increasing numbers until by 1913 the annual arrivals were over a million. A consciousness of superiority constantly tended to exalt the earlier Americans and to put the immigrants into a class by themselves, until it became an obvious deterrent and was responsible for several social maladjustments.

First, for our tardiness in passing protective legislation. Since every approach to labor problems in the United States had to do with immigrants because they form the bulk of the wage-earning population, it eventually came to be considered patriotic to oppose governmental measures for workmen's compensation, for unemployment insurance, and for old-age security. Over-crowded tenements, sweating systems, a high infant death-rate, and many another familiar aspect of unregulated industry also became associated in the public mind with the immigrant. Unlike the impassioned study of poverty made in England during the 80's, resulting in the belief that a representative government was performing its legitimate function when it considered such matters, we in the United States in the very same decade, found an alibi for all of our disturbing industrial problems and put them off on the immigrant.

William Penn affords an antithesis of all this, and presents a direct method of avoiding the difficulties of self-righteousness in his relations with the aliens who confronted him—the North American Indians, for more than a century regarded by the New England colonies as untamed savages. His 1682 treaty with them, impressively consummated by two self-respecting political entities, was made as between equals and was mutually binding. Moreover, he assured the non-English settlers in his colony—the Dutch, the Swedes, and the Germans, that “you shall be governed by laws of your own making, and live a free and if you will, sober and industrious people,” and each group at once received the franchise. The laborers, who represented many European nationalities, were to be provided for at the expiration of their terms of service. The despised negro was to be free after fourteen years, and furnished land, tools, and stock. William Penn manumitted his own slaves in 1701. Such was his confidence in his fellowman that he gave to his conglomerate colony the first constitution in the world which provided for its own amendment.

Our national self-righteousness might be indicted for another policy towards labor—the widespread belief that differing opinions may be controlled by force. European immigrants have been held responsible for strikes and other industrial disorders, since it was assumed that they held all sorts of belief contrary to basic American doctrines. Therefore to scatter strikers by the police and even by the militia and the regulars came to be considered a patriotic duty. Yet William Penn reached the conclusion when he was imprisoned in the Tower as a young man that real protection lay in mutual understanding and confidence; “that love and persuasion have more force than weapons of war.” He stood for this conviction when in the vast wilderness stretching around him groups of white settlers were being attacked and sometimes massacred by the Indians.

A third result of our national attitude toward the immigrant is that we have become indifferent to the protection of human life. Unfortunately the earliest outbreaks of gang violence in Chicago—more or less typical of those throughout the country—were associated with colonies of immigrants. Although we all knew that the bootleggers and other racketeers could not have continued without political protection, the community was slow to act, because so long as the Sicilians, who composed the first powerful bootlegging gang, killed only one another, it was considered of little consequence. From January, 1928, to January, 1932, we had in Chicago 232 gang killings, in which the law-enforcing agencies failed to bring even one to trial. Such preferential treatment of crime—an obvious symptom of a breakdown in democratic government—may be an indirect result of an unjustifiable habit of considering one human being of less consequence than another. Never was William Penn's ideal of religion, founded upon fraternity and righteousness, so sorely needed.

This leads quite naturally to the fourth indictment arising out of our attitude toward the immigrant—our dilemma in regard to prohibition. Because the Simon-pure American did make an exception of himself, he often voted for laws which he would like to see enforced upon others without any intention of keeping them himself. Many Southern men voted for the Eighteenth Amendment because they wanted to keep drink away from the negro; other Northern men, because they needed sober immigrant labor. William Penn set an example even here. He did not sell liquor to the Indians because of the terms of an agreement which they had voluntarily entered into with him. In one more instance he had achieved his purpose by the moral cooperation of those he was trying to serve, and of course there is no other way.

Another aspect of our national self-righteousness, much more sinister in its influence, is the demand for conformity on pain of being denounced as a "red" or a "traitor." Perhaps never before in our history has there been within the framework of orderly government such impatience with differing opinion. Such a stultifying situation is more than ever dangerous just now when the nation needs all the free and vigorous thinking which is available. To illustrate the danger of holding fast to a social concept which is no longer useful, but which has not yet been superseded by the new, because the new one is considered dangerous, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler said within recent weeks to the students of Columbia University, "We are living in the backwash of ultra nationalism following the Great War, ignoring the fundamental and controlling fact that the world today is an international world." He also quoted the concluding words of a report signed by leading members of the Finance Committee of the League of Nations: "It may be truly said that international trade is gradually being strangled to death. If the process continues, millions of people in this economically interlocked world must inevitably die of starvation." Would it not be humiliating for a world to starve in the midst of plethora of food because the constructive and collective intelligence of mankind was unable to make a distinction between political nationalism and economic internationalism, and serenely sacrificed the latter to the first!

The corrective supplied by William Penn on this point is very clear. Nothing could have been more difficult in his day and generation than his long advocacy of religious freedom—that each man must worship God in his own way. Religion, it is only fair to remember, was the absorbing interest of the 17th century. Dynasties rose and fell upon theological issues, and great families disappeared when they found themselves on the side of the oppressed instead of the oppressor. William Penn took his stand for the freedom of worship of all sects, for the Roman Catholics, no less than for the Quakers. With invincible courage he put the truth as God gave him to see the truth to the test of action, in the new world among alien Indians, as well as in the old.

One could make a long list of William Penn's advances beyond his contemporaries. In education, he was expelled from Oxford, because the universities saw that the inspirational preacher might interfere with the stiff scholasticism which produced their dull and learned clergy. Regarding the education of children he expressed ideas which might easily be ascribed to John Dewey or Bertrand Russell. In international affairs we have hardly caught up to him yet. A hundred years before the thirteen colonies were federated, for example, he had worked out a plan for a "Dyot or Parliament of Europe to settle trouble between nations without war." William Penn appealed from tradition to experience; from intrenched authority to life, and in his absorbed devotion to his colony, calmly followed his own rule, "Though there is a regard due to education and the tradition of our fathers, Truth will ever deserve, as well as claim, the preference." In this spirit he suppressed the hunting of witches, declared the spiritual equality of men and women, reduced from two hundred to two the number of offences punishable by death, declared that all prisons would be workshops, and literally taxed slavery out of existence. Such right thinking and courageous acting is doubtless what we need at this moment more than anything else. Sir Arthur Salter, in a recent number of Foreign Affairs, believes that the choice before the world today is between trying to build up world trade, based on world order, or moving further toward a system of closed units, each aiming to be self sufficient. The choice of the United States in this world decision has come to have an undue influence, and yet we all know that there exists an overwhelming danger that America may leave unaided and thus unwantonly cripple the supreme political effort of these later centuries—the effort to make international relations more rational and human. Several years ago at Williams-town, Arnold Toynbee boldly warned us against what he described as a rather low type of religion—the worship of some sixty or seventy gods called Sovereign National States, declaring that such idolatry of nationalism was not patriotism but suicide.

I find it a great temptation to conclude with an exhortation to those who represent a seat of learning; certainly the scholar, who is always impatient of intellectual apathy and incapacity, may find a formula which shall preserve "that spirit of nationality in which for many years the aspirations of man for liberty and free development have found their expression, and yet prevent the abuse of that nationality which now threatens with destruction all that it has given or promised." Is it not true that the contemporary world, based upon the search for private profit and for national advantage, has come in conflict with the newer principle of social welfare and the zeal for practical justice in our human affairs? Must we wait for another William Penn to show us the unique opportunity it affords once more to make politics further the purposes of religion and to purge religion itself from all taint of personal and national self-righteousness?

THE TEENY WELTON MEMORIAL

At its reunion last June, the Class of 1928 decided to establish a memorial in honor of Teeny Welton, their everlasting president, who died in the fall of 1932. After much thought, the class decided to create a fund with which to buy books in the field of Sociology, where her chief interest lay. These books are to have a special bookplate, and are to occupy a special corner in the college library. Early in October, Virginia Batte, chairman of the fund committee, sent a message to all the members of the class in which she said in part: "The loss of Teeny is so great that it seems the least we can do to try to perpetuate her influence in some such way as this. All of us loved Teeny, and each can do something, however small, and even though at a sacrifice. She would do it for us. Mrs. Ada Davis Foust, Miss Sampson, and I are to select the books. Please send your contribution to me as soon as possible, so that our memorial fund may begin to be of service in Teeny's name."

This is a fund to which all who knew Teeny, all who are interested in the library, all who are interested in the subject of Sociology, whether they were classmates of Teeny or not, can well contribute, knowing that their gift will begin to serve, regardless of the purpose for which they give, in an unusually fertile field in these puzzling days.

The Survey Committees

President Graham has recently appointed committees from the three faculties to make an inside survey of all phases of college and university life in the three units of the Greater University. The findings of these committees are to be reported to the Administrative Council of each institution, which will in turn report and recommend to the president of the University.

For the Woman's College, the following committees were named:

Members of the Administrative Council

Dr. Julius I. Foust, ex officio; Dr. Helen Barton, Prof. Harriet Elliott, Prof. Ruth Fitzgerald, Dr. Benjamin B. Kendrick.

I. The Faculty Committee of the College on General Policies

Dr. J. A. Highsmith, provisional chairman. Permanent chairman and secretary to be elected by the committee. This committee for the present is composed of the members of the Administrative Council and the chairman of the other committees.

II. The Faculty Committee on the Unification and General Welfare of the Several Faculties of the Woman's College

Dr. Julius I. Foust, chairman; Dr. Winfield S. Barney, Dean Wade R. Brown, Dr. J. H. Cook, Dr. Margaret Edwards, Prof. E. J. Forney, Prof. J. P. Givler, Dr. Anna M. Gove, Dr. Benjamin B. Kendrick, Dean William C. Smith.

III. The Faculty Committee on Student Life and Welfare

Prof. Jane Summerell, chairman; Dr. Ruth M. Collings, Prof. Helen Ingraham, Prof. Betty A. Land, Prof. Vera Largent, Prof. Alleine R. Minor.

Consulting Committee: Miss Minnie L. Jamison, Miss Lillian Killingsworth, Miss Flora Marie Meredith, Miss Katherine Sherrill, Miss Elizabeth Steinhardt, Miss Frances Summerell, Miss Lucy Crisp, Miss Margaret Plonk and other student leaders.

IV. The Faculty Committee on the Curriculum

Dr. J. A. Highsmith, chairman; Dr. Alex M. Arnett, Prof. Mary Coleman, Dr. J. H. Cook, Dr. Margaret Edwards, Dr. Meta Miller, Miss Cora Strong, Miss Nettie Sue Tillett, Prof. George M. Thompson.

V. The Faculty Committee on the Budget

Dr. A. S. Keister, chairman; Mr. Claude E. Teague, Assistant Comptroller of the University; Prof. Glenn R. Johnson, Prof. Mary M. Petty, Prof. Etta R. Spier.

VI. The Faculty Committee with Regard to the Quarter and Semester Systems

Dr. Leonard B. Hurley, chairman; Dr. W. S. Barney, Prof. Bernice Draper, Miss Mary Taylor Moore, Miss Vira M. Playfoot, Prof. Maude Williams, Prof. Chase Going Woodhouse.

VII. The Faculty Committee on Comprehensive Examinations

Prof. Florence Schaeffer, chairman; Dr. Key L. Barkley, Prof. Oliver P. Clutts, Prof. Marie B. Denneen, Prof. Magnhilde Gullander, Prof. C. H. Stone, Dr. C. N. Warfield.

VIII. The Faculty Committee Clerical Set-Up

Mr. C. E. Teague, Assistant Comptroller of the University, chairman; Prof. Elva Barrow, Miss Laura Coit, Prof. C. D. Johns, Prof. A. C. Hall, Dr. Malcolm K. Hooke, Prof. Miriam MacFadyen, Miss Elizabeth Sampson.

These had the unanimous endorsement of the Woman's College Administrative Council.

TO CHARLES D. McIVER

*Let come what will, let come what may,
You are here still to hold your sway.
The winds may howl, the rains may fall,
The foes may scowl, but through them all
You stand the test that bids retreat
To less than best for those who meet
Around the plot on which you stand,
The garden spot of N. C. land.*

*Your students go beyond your world.
Full well they know there is unfurled
For them a work that must be done.
They will not shirk what you've begun.
Your mottoes speak the word "success."
This goal we seek and nothing less.
For you we stand! For you we 'plaud,
The N. C. band that knows no fraud!*

—ALMA CAMPBELL '30.

The Spreading

Nineteen

Twenty-Seven

Thirty

Twenty-Five

Six Commercials

107 Granddaughters

Family Tree

Seniors

Juniors

Sophomores

Freshmen

Six Commercials

107 Granddaughters

SENIORS — 19

Beasley, Kathleen Four Oaks
 Fannie Gray '09-'10

Belvin, Janet Durham
 Nettie Beverly '05

Benson, Frances Nashville
 Lula Ward '99-'01

Boyd, Cleone Mooresville
 Ina Hobbs '97-'98

Fortune, Adelaide Greensboro
 Edna Wootton '02-'03

Fox, Dorothy Randleman
 Annie Lee Staley '00—Deceased

Gamble, Ruth Summerfield
 Serena Denny '92-'93—Deceased

McDearman, Nancy Rocky Mount
 Mary Battle '93-'95

McDearman, Sara Durham
 Hortense Cowan '04-'05

McGoogan, Margaret St. Pauls
 Harriet D. McArthur '97-'99

Marrow, Catharine Tarboro
 Juliet Cox '94-'95

Martin, Agnes Rich Square
 Mable Conner '07-'08

Meroney, Martha Greensboro
 Lula Dixon '10

Nissen, Lou Dillard Winston-Salem
 Cora Pannill '02-'03

Rabb, Margaret Lenoir
 Nettie McNairy '05-'06

Reeves, Evelyn Inez Albemarle
 Rachel Hood '07-'08

Sockwell, Elizabeth Greensboro
 Sallie Fryar '98-'01

Spenser, Margaret B. Danville, Va.
 Margaret Brown

Swift, Frances Montezuma
 Bulus Bagby '99

JUNIORS — 27

Allen, Mary Jane Henderson
 Neita Watson '02

Batchelor, Vernon Nashville
 Bessie Lee Ward '02-'04

Beasley, Pauline Four Oaks
 Fannie Gray '09-'10

Brown, Charlotte Monroe
 Ruth Harper '00—Deceased

Claypoole, Frances B. New Bern
 Frances Broadfoot '11

Costner, Jane Lineolnton
 Annie Nixon '07-'08

Craig, Bennie Lee Waxhaw
 Marguerite Cuthbertson '04-'05

Foy, Julia Belle Mount Airy
 Mabel Absher '07-'08

Hambright, Pauline Grover
 Minnie Hartness '95-'96

Hamlin, Margaret High Point
 Margaret Pickett '11

Holoman, Mebane Rich Square
 Pattie Vaughn White '07

Howard, Helen Sanford
 Helen Paschal '06-'08

Hutchison, Mary Alice Charlotte
 Mary B. Grier '09-'10

Jones, Frances C. Greensboro
 Lula Mundy '02-'04

Land, Frances Chadbourn
 Bessie Johnson '97-'98

Land, Frances A. Hamlet
 Velna Pope '09

Palmer, Margaret Gulf
 Edna Russell '92-'93

Redfern, Martha Charlotte
 Sue Lillie Gattis '99-'00

Reeves, Mercer Sanford
 Myrtle Spaugb '07-'08

- Ross, Margaret Winston-Salem
Mabel Lynch '04-'05
- Schulken, Carroll Wilmington
Irene Bass '96-'98
- Smith, Sarah S. Chadbourn
Mary Needham Boddie '01-'04
- Spence, Olive Goldsboro
Sabra Brogden '08-'11
- Thompson, Margaret Greensboro
Iola White '07
- Thompson, Mildred Raleigh
Annie Kearns '07-'08
- Tillett, Margaret Newport News, Va.
Margaret Stanford '99-'01—Deceased
- Turner, Blanche Burgaw
Mattie Paddison '08-'09—Deceased

SOPHOMORES — 30

- Boyette, Frances May Scotland Neck
Stella Hoffman '08-'11
- Bunn, Sarah Battleboro
Jessie Speight '95-'98
- Cobb, Emma Katherine McLeansville
Lizzie Shore '07-'08
- DuBose, Harriet Columbia, S. C.
Sara Hammond '03-'04
- Elliott, Amelia Edenton
Amelia White '97-'99
- Fulcher, Joyce New Bern
Lovie F. Mason '08-'10
- Gaw, Jane Greensboro
Lois Boyd '94-'98
- Hammond, Eleanor Asheboro
Margaret Whitfield '00-'01
- Horney, Mary Louise Greensboro
Louise Foushee '03-'04
- Jeffress, Rebecca Greensboro
Louise Adams '03-'06
- Knight, Margaret Greensboro
Nell Hendrix '01-'02
- Latham, Edythe Greensboro
Bert Ozment '13-'14
- McGlohon, Zelota Ayden
Harriette Brown '03-'06
- McGoogan, Harriet St. Pauls
Hattie D. McArthur '97-'99
- Matthews, Louise Randleman
Sallie Fox '08-'09
- Medford, Helen Waynesville
Elizabeth McCracken '02-'03
- Myrick, Mary Louise Greensboro
Mamie Wilson Freeman '09-'12
- Porter, Adelaide Black Mountain
Grace White '04-'07
- Reufrow, Mary Matthews
Mozelle Keesler '96-'97—Deceased
- Reynolds, Lyal Maie Greensboro
Elizabeth Crawford '04-'05

- Rice, Julia Asheboro
Bessie L. Johnson '97-'98
- Richardson, Florence Dover
Lon West '07-'10
- Ross, Mary Anna Winston-Salem
Mabel Lynch '04-'05
- Tate, Frances Littleton
Ara Jordan '12
- Taylor, Eloise Guilford College
Lydia Brookbank '07-'08
- Thomas, Martha Wadesboro
Lucy Josephine Hawkins '07
- Upehurch, Frances Oxford
Havens Carroll '03-'05
- Weill, Carolyn Greensboro
Beatrice Schwab '07-'09
- Whaley, Elizabeth Greensboro
Mary Jeffress '06-'09
- White, Susan Louise Asheville
Annie Smith '09-'11

FRESHMEN — 25

- Abernathy, Laura Vernon Hickory
Lilly Wall '03-'04
- Beasley, Lillian Rose Smithfield
Myrtle Rose '11-'12
- Belton, Anne Robins Winston-Salem
Lottie Newton
- Berbert, Frances Rosalind Greensboro
Freda Stern '14-'15
- Cody, Ethel Darlington, S. C.
Barbara Catherine Seagle '02-'04
- Darden, Rachel Annapolis, Md.
Gertrude Person '05-'08
- Dennis, Ruth D. Marshall
Lura Duckett '13-'14
- Dickinson, Alice Wilson
Willie Watson '97
- Eshelman, Helen Bonner High Point
Helen Bonner '04-'06
- Hay, Eugenia Greensboro
Annie Kime '01-'03
- Honeycutt, Josephine Franklinton
- Hooks, Mary D. Fremont
Neta Dickinson '04-'06
- Jeffress, Mary Louise Greensboro
Louise Adams '03-'06
- Lambeth, Alice L. Jonesboro
Annie Green '95-'96
- McCain, Alma High Point
Alma Cunningham '03-'05
- Moseley, Harriett Kinston
Sallie Parrott '06-'08
- Norman, Frances Mount Airy
Katie Spaugh '14-'15
- Peebles, Elizabeth Jackson
Lollie Harris '98-'99

Rankin, Louisa Fayetteville
 Lola Bruton '04-'05
 Reed, Laura Alice Winston-Salem
 Fleda Morris
 Smith, Ida Dunn
 Lena Leggett '07
 Swift, Bulus Montezuma
 Bulus Bagby '99
 Terrell, Winifred Wendell
 Ruby Tull '06-'09
 Tinsley, Elizabeth Greensboro
 Annette Sloan '97-'98
 Turner, Martha Leonora Burgaw
 Mattie Paddison '08-'09—Deceased

COMMERCIAL — 6

Hepler, Vera Greensboro
 Flossie Lindley
 Jones, Pattie Mount Olive
 Alma
 McKay, Mary Concord
 Margaret Elizabeth Propst '04-'06
 Reeves, Mary Louise Albemarle
 Rachel Hood '07-'08
 Weddington, Dorothy Concord
 Loula Craven '08
 Womble, Helen Goldston
 Ethel Goldston '09-'11

Miss Margaret Edwards, Head of the School of Home Economics

At the opening of school this fall, Miss Margaret Edwards came to the Woman's College as head of the School of Home Economics, succeeding Miss Blanche Shaffer, who was married last June. Miss Edwards is really returning to her one time stamping ground, and is meeting again many friends whom she made during the years she spent in North Carolina as State Supervisor of Home Economics. She is a native of Ohio, but her work has taken her into various sections of the United States, and nowhere, she says, does she feel more at home than in the South.

Miss Edwards is a graduate of the University of Montana, and has a master's degree from Columbia. In addition she has done still further graduate study at Columbia, Chicago, and Cornell Universities, and has very nearly completed the work for the Ph.D. in home economics. A diversified experience in her field has given her a very broad understanding of the subject. She managed a tea room in Florida; taught in the school of home economics in the Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, at the same time serving as dietitian; did base hospital work during the war; was supervisor of home economics in the state of Kansas; supervisor of home economics in the state of North Carolina; member of the staff of the American Child Health Association, and director of the School of Home Economics at Alabama State College for Women. One year she spent studying on a travelling Rockefeller fellowship, and now is back in North Carolina. Miss Edwards is also first vice president of the American Home Economics Association, and has just retired as first vice president of the American Vocational Association, although she continues as a member of the legislative committee of that organization.

MISS MARGARET EDWARDS

In speaking of the work she has just begun here, Miss Edwards says: "I believe that North Carolina has the greatest opportunity in the South to develop both a unique and a far reaching program in the field of home economics. I think this because of the development of the Greater University and because of the leadership of the women in this state. I believe that both the Greater University and our women leaders are looking toward scientific homemaking as one of the big contributions to the education of women."

EDUCATIONAL RELIEF PROGRAM IN HOME ECONOMICS

One of the phases of the educational relief program which is being sponsored by the R. F. C. is classified as General Continuation Education. Under this heading a plan has been put into operation by the Home Economics Department at the College, with the cooperation of the State Relief Administrator and the State Department of Education, whereby about thirty-five women — unemployed home economics teachers and home makers who meet the necessary qualifications, have been brought back to the College for two weeks of intensive training under the direction of Miss Edwards and her staff. These women were selected from a list of about 90, compiled by the state supervisor of home economics, who secured from the local relief administrators, from the city and county superintendents of schools, and from the local welfare officers names of unemployed women who were eligible for this type of training. They are being paid a relief wage of $12.00 a week during the period of their instruction. They are being trained to return to their home communities and organize classes with the aid of the local administrator and other public officials for people who are either on relief or who are living on reduced incomes. They will again be paid at the rate of 30 cents an hour for forty hours a week. They will give courses which will help the home makers to handle their reduced incomes more effectively.

Five and six classes are being held each day. The courses being taught include Methods in Teaching, given by Miss Burson, State Supervisor of Home Economics; recreational activities, under the direction of the Woman's College Physical Education staff; community organization, low cost family feeding, clothing for the family, with special attention to renovation and simple construction; family budgeting. Materials furnished by the local relief center are being used. Home Improvement is another title, and this includes improving the house and grounds at little or no cost, the objective being to maintain morale and provide employment for leisure time. Miss Harriet Herring will also come from Chapel Hill from the Division of Social Research and instruct the group how to collect accurate data regarding relief families in North Carolina, this material to be submitted to the Demonstration Center in Chapel Hill for transmission to the Federal Relief Organization in Washington.

The experiment being conducted here at the College in behalf of unemployed teachers of home economics is the first of its kind to be undertaken in the United States.

The "New" Library

A YEAR ago, when the old library was charred and smoke-stained from the fire, all of us—and that means faculty and students as well as the library staff—had made up our minds to get along the best we could until the building should be remodeled and repaired and the many books we most wanted to use, rebound or replaced. The entire lower floor of Student's Building was pressed into temporary service for the reference, reserve, and periodical rooms. The librarian's office and the cataloging department were set up in the old building, among the stacks, since they were fire proof and had been only a little damaged by the flames. The whole experience, including the memory of the hammering and the pounding while one vainly tried to concentrate, has passed, for the restored building has been in daily use since the opening of school. Already we acknowledge that the fire was one of those blessings that do sometimes come in disguise.

When the absent alumnae come back to the campus now, about the first thing one says to them is this, "Have you seen the new library and the special reading room?" Then follows a tour of inspection, with many expressions of gratification at the improvements.

The returning alumna would note a number of important changes. First of all as she steps through the entrance at the front door into the lobby, or circulation room, she observes that it is more spacious now than before, and that the card catalog is located on her left, where the left-hand stairway used to be, and that only one stairway remains—the one winding up and around on the right. If she goes into the reference room on the right and the periodical room on the left, she will see that the shelves are built flat against the wall, that the spaces between and under windows are now occupied by shelves, and that the electric lighting arrangement is much better in every way than before.

Another important change is this: formerly the reserve room was a great space above the stacks on the third level, and since it was always a more or less temporary arrangement, it was never well equipped. Moreover the books were kept back of the desk, and the students had to ask for a book and sign a card. Now the reserve room occupies the space on the south and west sides of the building, on the second floor, somewhat after the shape of an L. Many windows make it an unusually cheerful room. The shelves are open, and students may find their books, use them, and then return them to the desk. Once every hour books are replaced on the shelves in alphabetical order.

The building was somewhat enlarged on the northeast and southeast corners, making possible a new office for the librarian, Mr. Stone, and a room for the staff.

In the upstairs hall, between the reserve and the reading rooms, glass-enclosed bulletin boards contain art displays. These are used in connection with the work in history, and are changed as the subject matter in the courses requires.

But the new feature which makes us swell with pride has been saved for the last—the special reading room. It is yet without a name, but Mr. Stone says that it is to be christened when the proper name has been found. It is located on the second floor, on the north, and runs the entire length of the building from east to west. One opens the door and for an instant imagines that he is in a beautifully furnished living room or a lounge in a club house. Soft draperies are hung at all the many windows. Deep rugs, easy chairs, davenport, tables, lamps, a few well selected pictures and pieces of pottery—all very colorful and comfortable, furnish the western half of the room. Here the beautifully illustrated books and the new books are kept. Here the shelves are glass-enclosed. Round tables and windsor chairs are found in the eastern half, in a more formal manner. Here one may lose himself in the romances of the fiction collection. In addition to the illustrated books, the new books, and the fiction, outstanding books in every field have been taken from the stacks and also placed in this room. In the vocabulary of the special reading room such phrases as "required reading," "parallel assignments," "reserve titles," have no place. One drops in to read for the joy of reading. One walks familiarly up to old friends, or makes the acquaintance of new, in a spirit of freedom and intellectual enjoyment. Nor does one have to put the book back right at the most interesting place, because the closing bell has tapped—she may take it along with her to finish. If the fire did nothing more than make this room possible, there are a few people at least who are ready to say that they are glad it came. Come to see the library when you are in Greensboro and renew your acquaintance with the place and with its hospitable staff.

THE GENERAL VALUE OF MEMBERSHIP IN THE A. A. U. W.

The value of membership in the American Association of University Women would naturally be answered in different ways by different individuals and groups. There is little question in the minds of college women graduated from colleges ineligible to membership. Nor is there doubt in the case of college graduates living in sections of the country where other opportunities for college contacts and study are few and far between. Both of these groups realize to the full the advantage of membership.

But what value is membership to college women who already have many intellectual contacts? There are a number. The Headquarters of the American Association of University Women has become an educational headquarters. Many questions and problems in educational lines may be referred to the office of the director for answer by experts.

Again, Headquarters has prepared a scheme of studies and bibliographies along many lines bearing on civic and economic questions as well as on the purely educational.

Headquarters has become also an authority on international questions and the secretary of International Relations is in a position to give answers to many perplexing questions as well as supply outlines and bibliographies for study of international relations.

Membership in the Association means close contact with other university women from all parts of this country through state, sectional, and national gatherings.

Membership in the Association means membership in the National Clubhouse at 1634 I Street, Washington, and also an opportunity to use the other clubhouses—Crosby Hall in London, and Reid Hall in Paris.

Moreover, members are eligible to hold world fellowships for advanced study—fellowships not granted to non-members.

But the individual has something to give as well as to get. In this age of problems, university women throughout the nation ought to stand shoulder to shoulder for the best interests—the best interests of the community, especially along educational lines; the best interests of the nation, in the perplexing questions which it faces; the best interests of the world, through international relations. Every additional member means that the Association is a greater power for good. If, instead of approximately 40,000 members, it included all who are eligible, the influence of the Association on questions of general welfare, communal, national and international, would be infinitely increased.

The Log of the Class of 1933

Since they put out to sea last June, where have they landed — these 33's? And how are they faring? Here is the cheering word sent back by a goodly number.

THE COMPLETE "LOG" WILL BE REPORTED IN SUCCEEDING NUMBERS OF THE NEWS.

- ELIZABETH ALBRITTON, teaching third grade, Contentnea High School, Route 1, Kinston. "I miss you all tremendously."
- IDA KATHRYN ALLEN, working in post office and taking correspondence work, at home, Bunnlevel.
- JANIE ALLSBROOK, keeping house at home for the present, Tarboro. Janie says she did substitute work in public library during vacation.
- MARGARET ANDREWS, second grade, Elm Street School, High Point. Margaret says she likes her job a lot. She has only twenty-four children in her room.
- MARY ELIZABETH ANGLE, English, history, geography, and spelling, sixth grade, West Harper Elementary School, Lenoir. Mary is working with her former teachers and superintendent, in the very same building and same school in which she graduated.
- JERRIE ARTHUR, laboratory work in a physician's office, Charlotte. Jerrie says she had a delightful vacation during the early part of the summer in Virginia and Washington, and started work about the middle of July. Margaret Creech is just around the corner.
- MARGARET BANE, working in a store, Reidsville.
- RUTH E. BARTON, doing secretarial work in father's office, Greensboro.
- ANNIE LAURIE BASON, at home, Route 2, Greensboro. Annie Laurie spent the first six weeks of the summer vacation as assistant in biology at the college.
- SARAH LEE BAZEMORE, fourth grade, Lewiston.
- LORENE BEATTY, keeping house at home, Stanley.
- LOUISE BEAVER, working in post office and a general merchandise store, Bear Poplar. Louise says she spent her vacation visiting friends, and incidentally taking several short trips to the mountains and seashore.
- LUCILE BECKERDITE, fourth grade, Midway High School, Route 1, Lexington.
- MARY PARKS BELL, home economics and biology, high school, Kannapolis.
- MILDRED BELL, home economics and biology, high school, Stony Point.
- VERA BLACK, at home, Cherryville.
- DOROTHY BLACKWOOD, keeping house at home, Winston-Salem. She sends best wishes to everybody for another good year.
- MILDRED BOATMAN, mathematics and science, high school, Pleasant Garden School, Route 4, Marion. Mildred says that a number of the teachers in her school have attended summer session at the college, but that she is the only graduate. She is particularly glad, however, to have Kitty Knowles for a "neighbor," just about five miles away! She has a sister, Margaret, who is a freshman at college this year.
- MILDRED BOWLES, at home Fayetteville. She worked for a while during the summer at the public library in Fayetteville.
- LOLLIE BOYD, history and mathematics, high school, Denver. Lollie says she enjoyed the summer number of the Alumnae News a lot.
- LILLIE BRADSHAW, home economics, high school, Mount Pleasant.
- FRANCES BRAME, at home, Wendell.
- REBECCA BRASWELL, at home, Greensboro.
- KAY BROWN, studying at Teacher's College, Columbia University, working for her master's degree, New York City.
- MARY E. BRUMMITT, biology, Woman's College, Greensboro. Mary says she spent her summer largely at her home in Oxford, incidentally collecting some zoological material. She says it was a great experience to be a student at college but even more enjoyable to be "faculty!"
- MILDRED BRUNT, at home, Winston-Salem. Mildred decided not to use her law fellowship at Duke, but she declares she'll be a lawyer yet, and when she is, and a few other things besides, she is going to establish a fund to supplement the fellowships of all poverty stricken students! "I never thought I'd confess it, but I do get homesick to see the college again—although I suspect that it is really the people there I am missing. Good luck to everybody."

FRANCES BULWINKLE, at home Gastonia. Frances is planning to go to Washington City after Christmas to take a secretarial course.

LUCYE BURGESS, at home, Route 2, Ramseur. The first of January Lucye expects to enter the Graduate Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia, where she will have the position of student dietitian.

SUSAN MARTIN KAPEHART, at home, Windsor.

GERTRUDE CATES, piano, high school, Hillsboro.

ALLEEN CHARLES, public school music in the grades, Roanoke Rapids. Alleen says there are only five new teachers in the system this year. Two of them are local girls, and the other three are members of the Class of '33—herself, Elizabeth Dover, and Lucy Mayfield. "Hurrah for W. C. U. N. C!"

NOLA CLAYTON, at home Oxford. Nola says she spent the summer at Marshall, Va.

ELOISE COBB, working in Macy's, New York City. Eloise says her particular job right at the moment is selling goblets in the eighth floor glassware department. She has found at least "half dozen other N. C. girls working here also, in positions ranging from that of Wilhelmina Weiland in the Personal Shopping Department and Kate Caldwell in the Bureau of Adjustments, on down."

RUTH COBB, studying at Western Reserve, Cleveland, Ohio.

ELIZABETH CODY, at home Darlington, S. C. Elizabeth was a student at the college during the summer session, and afterwards went to Hendersonville, where her family has a summer home.

CORA FULLER COLLIER, at home, Goldsboro.

MARY LOU CONDER, married, Now Mrs. E. L. Campbell, Aberdeen.

HELENE COOGAN, Bryn Mawr, Pa. Helene is studying in the Department of Social Economy, with a graduate scholarship. The scholarship includes one-half time at the Y. W. C. A., where she is doing work with girls' clubs in the Business and Professional Girls' Department. She finds it all very challenging and interesting, with the unusual labor situation in Philadelphia at the time she was writing, and the agitation for unions even among clerical girls.

JULIENNE COONER, at home, Batesburg, S. C. She says she spent the summer at home and on Sullivan's Island.

CATHERINE PACE COX, second grade, Fayetteville. Catherine had a wonderful experience last summer in New York—running a kindergarten among a group of Italian children.

THELMA CRAVER, sixth grade, Tyro High School, Route 5, Lexington.

MARGARET CREECH, working as a dentist's assistant, Charlotte. Margaret had an entirely different job during the summer—supervising a book mending project in the city school libraries.

MRS. MARY E. GRIMES CRITTENDEN, at home, Greensboro. Mrs. Crittenden, whose husband is a member of the faculty in the Department of Biology, says they enjoyed a week in Asheville last summer; otherwise, Greensboro was her vacation "playground."

LUCY CROCKER, at home, Greensboro. Lucy is another who says she likes to read the News.

BILLIE CRUMPTON, home economics, physics, biology, high school, Morrisville. Billie spent her summer working with the Welfare Department of Person County. Now she is helping to establish a home economics department in the Green Hope High School. "With no money, it is a job, but I like it all the same."

VIRGINIA L. DALTON, French and English, high school, Liberty. Virginia is one of three members of the class who are teaching at Liberty. Margaret King Shepard and Christine Hatch are the other two.

LOUISE DANIEL, general science, biology, and geography, high school, Mocksville.

NAOMI DANIELS, taking a business course, Goldsboro.

E. JEANETTE DAVIS, student dietitian, Jefferson Medical College Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa.

KATHERINE DAVIS, fifth grade, Kernersville.

FAY DELLINGER, taking a secretarial course, Beacon College, Wilmington, Delaware. She wandered up into Maryland last summer and spent her vacation at Cecilton.

ESTELLE DENTON, at home, Charlotte.

BERTHA DIXON, sixth grade, Leasburg.

VIRGINIA DOUGHERTY, graduate work at University of West Virginia, Morgantown, W. Va. Virginia was dancing counselor at a girl's camp last summer.

DOROTHY DUFF, secretary for the buyer of shoes at Strawbridge and Clothier's Department Store, Philadelphia, Pa. "I like my work very well, but I do miss the college."

CLEONE DULIN, English and French, Bethel High School, Cabarrus. "I began teaching July 24, exactly seven weeks after graduation, and like my work very much. There are so many alumnae of the college teaching in this county that we cannot help but feel at home. Ten or twelve members of our class are here. I am eager to hear from all the rest of you."

DOROTHY ELLIOTT, seventh grade, Concord. Dorothy says she spent her vacation at home, and also began teaching on July 24.

EVELYN BARDEN ENNETT, at home, Silverdale.

MARJORIE FIELD, at home, Climax.

ARLINE FONVILLE, secretarial work in the E. M. Holt Plaid Mills, Burlington. It is almost needless to say, considering the job, that she spent the summer studying shorthand.

FRANCES FOWLER, fourth grade, Marion.

HALLIE FREEMAN, home economics, high school, Lumberton.

JEAN FREEMAN, at home, Salisbury.

LUCILE FREEMAN, piano, Fairmont.

OLGA FOSTER FRISARD, third, fourth, and fifth grades, Chesterfield School, Morganton. Olga says hers is a three-teacher county school, and she teaches grades 3, 4, and 5, plus English in grades 6 and 7.

LOUISE GIBSON, commercial subjects, high school, Whiteville. She is also treasurer of the Whiteville High School, and has charge of the book rentals and cafeteria account.

NINA HALL, science and ninth grade English, high school, Columbus. Vacation in Florida, with most of the time spent in Miami, followed by several weeks at home, Saluda, which is a summer resort town, prepared Nina for her first months as a bona fide school teacher.

ERNESTINE HALYBURTON, English, W. M. I., New London, Conn. "I stole a week at the end of the summer for a trip back to my dear Tar Heel country, only to land in one of those awful hurricanes. Nevertheless I enjoyed the trip. Am sorry I couldn't get to Greensboro. Best of luck to every one for the coming year."

MARGARET HAMMOND, home economics, high school, Ramseur. In addition Margaret is running a school lunch room and sponsoring a school newspaper.

HELEN F. HARDING, 502 Hill Avenue, Wilkesburgh, Pa.

LOUISE HARRIS, first grade, Kannapolis. "Just loafed and visited all the summer. My copy of the Alumnae News was interesting."

DOROTHY L. HARTSELL, public school music and some second grade work, Concord.

CLAIRE HARTSOOK, science and physical education, high school, McLeansville. Claire was riding counselor at Camp Yonahlassee last summer. While there she rode in the annual horse show at Blowing Rock, and came off with several honors—first in the high jump, second and third in several other events, and she also won the silver cup given to first place winner in the hunter's jump.

CHRISTINE HATCH, first grade, Liberty.

NANCEE HAY, working in Macy's, New York City.

LOUISE HAYES, home economics, Aurelian Springs High School, Littleton.

JO HAYTER, primary work, Bristol, Va.

"How I do miss all of you and the college. But I love teaching my little children."

FRANCES HEFNER, fourth grade, Cliffside.

EMMA HEGE, reading and language in the grammar grades, Hollifield.

MARGARET Y. HENDERSON, at home, Canton.

BILLIE HERRINGTON, home economics and science, Smyrna High School, Smyrna. Billie says she spent her vacation at home in Newport and in Norfolk, Va.

CONSTANCE HERRITAGE, assisting in the laboratory and x-ray department at Moore County Hospital, Incorporated, Pinehurst.

ELIZABETH L. HESTER, working in the Press Intelligence Division of the NRA, Washington, D. C. "I like my work immensely. We are located in the new Commerce Building."

MARY LYNN HINES, second grade, Stony Point.

EVELYN HOLLOWELL, married. Now Mrs. Gordon Blow, Edenton.

RUTH HOLTON, English 3 and 4, Grayson Junior College, Grayson, Ky. In addition, Ruth has charge of the library in both the high school and the college at Grayson. She says the place is beautiful and the people lovely, and she likes her job, but she prefers library work to teaching. She spent the summer at home near New Bern.

LOTTIE HOOD, English and French, high school, Route 1, Claremont. Lottie commenced to teach in July, and continued for several weeks. Then followed a fall vacation, so that the children could assist with the harvests. In addition to teaching, she is also librarian of the school.

HELEN HORNER, married October 14, 1933. Now Mrs. Edmund L. Curlee, Burlington.

CALDWELL HOYLE, seventh grade, Philadelphus High School, Red Springs. There are four new teachers in Caldwell's school, besides herself and Sara Yelverton. Eight of them live in a teacherage, and that seems almost like being in a college dormitory again. She says she read every word of the summer News.

LUNA HUDSPETH, science and home economics, high school, Ronda. She says she is also sponsoring two clubs and coaching basketball. All told, she is very much pleased with her job.

SIBYL JENNINGS, doing advanced study, William and Mary College, Richmond, Va. Sibyl spent the summer in Asbury Park, New Jersey, and from there visited her brother in New York, where he is a member of the faculty of New York University.

WILMA KELLY, first grade, Union, S. C. Wilma says she did practical nursing at Appalachian Hall in Asheville last summer. She sends her best wishes "to everybody."

DOROTHY S. KING, French, high school, Gastonia.

REBECCA J. KORNBLUT, married.

CONSTANCE LAM, studying, New York School of Social Work, New York. Constance says that on the night of October 5, Pansy (McConnell) Hood had a college reunion at her apartment, with Marian Anderson, Mary Brandt, Helen Comer—all '32's, and Eloise Cobb, Nancee Hay, and herself—all '33's, present. They had a grand time visiting, and exchanging all the news about themselves and the college. Constance and Pansy are in the same school, and incidentally are taking the Community Organization Course together.

KATHARINE LAMBE, laboratory and office work for physicians, Greensboro. Katharine studied for the month of July at the New York Post Graduate Medical School, taking work in Serology.

ELIZABETH LANGFORD, working in Personnel Department, Woman's College, Greensboro. Viewing the Century of Progress in Chicago and visiting relatives in her old home in Davenport, Iowa, made up the greater part of Lib's summer vacation. She has an apartment this winter, near the campus, with two other members of the college office staff.

CLAIRE LIND, working with the Board of Charities and Public Welfare, Greensboro. Claire says it is mighty good to have a job and be independent, and a real responsibility, too. Although she likes it all, every day when she sees the college girls she can't help but wish she were back one of them again!

RUTH OWENS, studying in the School of Social Service Administration, University of Chicago, Chicago, Ill. Ruth finally chose the University of Chicago for her graduate work, and is enrolled there in the School of Social Service Administration. She is exuberant over Chicago, the University, and the Fair even! The architecture of the University, the dignified beauty of the buildings, is an inspiration. She is in Green Hall, a dormitory occupied chiefly by graduate women students. The library is just across the street; also the President's home; also the chapel, with the chimes, and their breath-taking effect upon one. Ruth especially likes Hutchinson Commons, where one may get good things to eat at reasonable prices. This place reminds her of some old baronial hall of Medieval England, or an Episcopalian Church, with its walls covered with large oil paintings of portly solemn gentlemen. Green Hall, where she lives, has a range of hours for all meals but dinner, which is at a set hour and served family style—five courses; then coffee in the drawing room. Ruth wants to know how the campus is bearing up under the strain of no co-eds!

"WE DO OUR PART"

An Alumnae Code, Prepared Under the Direction of Mrs. J. R. Bennett, our Alumnae President

As a stimulation to local alumnae groups to join with the parent celebration of Founder's Day on the campus, a program entitled "We Do Our Part" and containing the provisions of an Alumnae Code was prepared by Josie (Doub) Bennett, President of the Alumnae Association, and sent from the alumnae office to local association leaders. The book—for it really is a book—is a sort of handbook, or yearbook, or guide for all alumnae. If you happen not to have seen a copy—which is very probable since they were sent only to county chairmen, and would like to have one, send to the alumnae office at the college and we shall be pleased to forward a copy to you. What a great organization we should have, if we lived up to the provisions of this Alumnae Code. as Mrs. Bennett has crystallized it for us! More than that, what a great state we should have if we accepted the challenge of sane and courageous leadership she lays squarely down before us. Alumnae of the college, as educated women, have a definite responsibility in the accomplishment of national recovery. Have you, as an individual alumna, considered what your part might be?

Affairs of the Local Clubs and Associations

DUPLIN COUNTY ASSOCIATION

Duplin alumnae held their annual meeting this year on Founder's Day Eve, October 4, with Mrs. Hugh Wells (Louise Hunter), at her lovely new home in Teachey's. Louise (Kornegay) Boney, chairman of the club, presided, with Margaret (Blakeney) Blair as secretary. We were delighted that seven towns were so well represented in the gathering. Under the direction of Mrs. Boney, an interesting program in honor of Founder's Day was presented. College yells were given, and college songs were sung, with spirit and with zeal.

During the business meeting, the following officers were elected: chairman, Ellen (Boney) Miller; vice chairman, Julia (Stokes) Powell; secretary-treasurer, Laura (Carroll) Wells. A vice chairman was also named from each town: Alma (Davis) Wells, Rose Hill; Mrs. G. V. Gooding, Kenansville; Louise (Hunter) Wells, Teachey's; Melrose Gaylor, Magnolia; Margaret (Blakeney) Blair, Wallace; Rachel (Brown) Bowden, Warsaw; Helen (Hicks) Beems, Faison.

We enjoyed very much the delicious sandwiches served by our hostess, together with Russian tea and yellow and white mints. The college colors were further emphasized in the decorations of yellow and white flowers.

Margaret Blakeney Blair.

GUILFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

To give the alumnae and their friends an opportunity to see the "new" library which had been rebuilt during the year, the Guilford alumnae, together with the library staff, sponsored a tea in the building on the afternoon of Founder's Day, from four to six o'clock. Members of the faculty were also invited to be our guests. Fleida Johnson and Clara (Brawley) Latham, officers of the Guilford Association, received at the front door. Assisting them were Dr. and Mrs. J. I. Foust, Mr. Charles H. Stone, librarian, and Mrs. Stone; Miss Boddie, Dr. Gove, Miss Petty; Mrs. Weatherspoon, Mrs. Annie (McIver) Young; Lela (Wade) Phillips, a past president of the local association, and Martha (Petty) Hannah, incoming president. Miss Jamison and Miss Killingsworth greeted guests in the entrance, and Clara B. Byrd, alumnae secretary, introduced them to the line. In the periodical room, Virginia (Brown) Douglas, Frances Summerell, Lucy Crisp, Agnes Coxe, and Miss Virginia Trumper received. In the librarian's office Gladys Sutton and Patty Spruill welcomed the guests. Ruth Gunter and Margaret Wilson piloted the visitors through the stacks to the catalog department, where Marjorie Hood and Ella McDearman were in charge. In the reference room, Ethel (Bollinger) Keiger, Lena (Kernodle) McDuffie, Miriam McFadyen, and Katharyne Freeman did the honors, while in the upstairs hall Ruth (Hampton) Shuping, Hermene (Warlick) Eichhorn, Katherine Sherrill, and Betty Steinhardt received. Stationed in the reserve room were Ruth Fitzgerald, Mary Taylor Moore, Annie Simpson (Pierson) Stratford, and Mary Ruth Angle. From here, Mary Welsh Parker and Mary Brummitt guided the group to the reading room, where Claire (Henley) Atkisson, Marjorie Mendenhall, Marjorie (Kennedy) White, Minnie Hussey, and Katharine (Price) Tiedeman were hostesses. Here punch was served at two tables by Jane Summerell and Corinne Cook. Assisting were Helen Felder, Mary Lyon, Margaret Hood, Ruth Barton, Margaret and Elizabeth Crews, Mary Henri Robinson, Rose Goodwin, Virginia Fields, and Hattie (Rodwell) Johnson.

Many bowls of fall flowers gave a festive atmosphere to the pleasant rooms. About three hundred guests called during the afternoon.

Previous to the tea, a short business meeting was held in Student's Building, with Fleida Johnson presiding. New officers elected for the coming year: chairman, Martha (Petty) Hannah; vice chairman, Blossom (Hudnell) Thomas; secretary-treasurer, Katharine (Shenk) Mauney.

HIGH POINT ALUMNAE CLUB

High Point alumnae gathered at a supper meeting in the annex of the Friends Church, Tuesday evening, November 7. Edna (Bigham) Ross, chairman, presided. The tables were appropriately decorated with vases of yellow and white chrysanthemums, and yellow candles in crystal holders. Delicious food, good fellowship, excellent music, and stimulating talk featured the entire evening. At the conclusion of the meal, Mrs. Ross presented Elizabeth Cowan, soloist, now teaching in High Point, who sang two lovely numbers, accompanied by Elizabeth Strickland at the piano. The presiding chairman also presented Mrs. M. J. Wrenn, and she in turn introduced Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse, personnel director at the college and head of the placement bureau, and president of the National Federation of Altrusa Clubs. Mrs. Woodhouse discussed the NRA and its relation to education, pointing out in her excellent talk that education is the keystone of the whole National Recovery program, and that its success can be assured only if education is made a major concern in the plan. Among other things she also said that we must learn to distribute what we produce as efficiently as we have learned to produce.

Preceding this address, the presiding chairman presented the alumnae secretary, Clara B. Byrd, who in a brief talk spoke on several interesting developments which had taken place at the college since the association last met.

Interspersing the program of the evening, three students from the college—Adelaide Crowell, violinist, Susan Sharpe, flutist, both of High Point, and Ruth Cumbie, pianist—rendered each a number, winning for themselves many words of commendation.

During the brief business session, Ruria (Biggs) Shelton read the minutes of the last meeting, and Mary (Green) Matthews, as chairman of the nominating committee, read the report of the committee, which was unanimously adopted: chairman, Lillian Massey; vice chairman, Mary (Wilson) Wall; secretary-treasurer, Martha Neal Deaton. A note was read from Dr. Foust, expressing regret that he was unable on account of pressing duties at the college to accept the invitation of the club to be with them.

LEE COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Lee County Association met Thursday night, October 12, at the home of Allene (Hunt) Jackson, chairman, in Jonesboro. We used the material contained in the "We Do Our Part" program, sent from the alumnae office. Mrs. Tempe (Boddie) Barringer was named chairman of the Alumnae Achievement Committee. A feature of the meeting was a personal message over the telephone from Dr. Foust, who was spending the night in Sanford. Mrs. Jackson, who presided at this meeting, was re-elected chairman for the coming year, and Charlotte Chaffin was again named as secretary.

Charlotte Chaffin.

NORTHAMPTON ALUMNAE CLUB

The Northampton unit of the Alumnae Association of the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina met for a social and business meeting in the Seaboard High School library on Thursday evening, November 2. The Seaboard Woman's Club served a delicious three-course dinner. Mrs. T. R.

Everett, county chairman, presided. The event of the evening was an address by our alumnae secretary, Clara B. Byrd, who came from the college to be with us. She told us of many interesting developments in our college and stressed the importance of higher education in solving world problems. Bert McCrummen presented plans for paid up memberships in the general association. Mrs. Walter Spivey told of her plans as chairman of the Alumnae Achievement Committee. Mrs. R. Jennings White introduced the biggest project of the year—High School Day. Mrs. Fenton Beamon, Jackson, invited the group to her town for that event. The purpose of High School Day is to present the Woman's College to the high school senior girls of Northampton County. On this occasion, several representatives from the college will picture interesting phases of college life. This meeting will be in January.

Since education was the topic for discussion, each alumna invited a guest, husband or friend (lady or gentleman). Fifty people attended the meeting. The following alumnae were present: Kitty (Cannon) White, Nita (Hedspeth) Davis, and Sallie Woodard, Conway; Gay (Holman) Spivey, Pearl (Baugham) Bolton, Mabel (Conner) Martin, Sallie (Conner) Bunch, Mary (Conner) Smith, May Louise (Fallon) Boyce, Rich Square; Alma (Matthews) Howell, Hettie (Blanchard) Morgan, Mattie (Stephenson) Gay, Clara (Stephenson) Harris, Irene (Tankard) Harris, Fannie (Gay) Jones, Laura (Gay) Long, Maggie (Clark) Long, Ruth (Smith) Stephenson, Ruth (Vick) Everett, Willie Pritchard, and Bert McCrummen, Seaboard; Christine Wise, Nita (Clark) Beaman, Margaret (Futrell) Hughes, Mabel (Bolton) Hughes, Jackson; and Chloe (McDaniel) Carter, Woodland. Rev. L. A. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barbee, Seaboard, and Mrs. A. J. Conner, Rich Square, were honor guests.

Ruth (Vick) Everett, Chairman.

ROANOKE RAPIDS - ROSEMARY ALUMNAE CLUB

With Winifred Beckwith, our new president, as hostess, we met for our initial gathering on the evening of October 5. We followed closely the "We Do Our Part" program, reading and discussing in detail the provisions of the Alumnae Code. We also mapped out the year's schedule of meetings, talked over ways and means of keeping up our building and loan, and increasing our fund to be used at Christmas for a needy family. Then we played bridge and enjoyed an ice course in conclusion. Those present: Winifred Beckwith, Hazel Cobb, Annie Louise Moore, Viola Glover, Mary Pappendick, Virginia Smith, Gladys Cox, Thelma Garris, Irene Gordon, and three new members: Aileen Charles, Lucy Mayfield, and Elizabeth Dover.

Irene Gordon, Reporter.

ROCKY MOUNT ASSOCIATION

With Mary Arrington, chairman, presiding, Rocky Mount alumnae gathered for luncheon on Saturday, October 7, in the educational building of the First Methodist Church. Following the singing of the College Song, Em Austin read a letter from Dr. Foust, in which he emphasized two qualities essential for continued growth and development—faith and courage. "If I should sum up in a few words my message to you, it would be that the alumnae should manifest these two fine qualities of faith and courage, in spite of the many things which tend to weaken and destroy our optimistic spirit." The program entitled "We Do Our Part" was used—a program which had been prepared under the direction of the president of the general association, Mrs. J. R. Bennett, herself a member of the Rocky Mount group and sent to each of the local associations. Lenore (Stone) Lassiter, of Spring Hope, read a poem included in this general program, "Up from the Crowd." Alice Virginia Poe explained the purpose of the association and urged that members interest themselves in the organization of other chapters near by, calling attention also to the exchange of letters and reports between the individual bodies and the alumnae office at the college. Iola Parker spoke in detail of the opportunities at the college, and asked that alumnae do all they could to see to it that the Senior High School girls be made acquainted with the Woman's College. Maud (Bunn) Battle urged the need of trained leaders in the business, political, social, religious, and educational life of today. Stressing the needs of public education, she quoted from a recent statement made by C. W. Phillips, who after years of outstanding service to education in the state, resigned as principal of the Greensboro High School to enter the business field.

The annual election of officers resulting in the following being chosen: chairman, Josephine (Jenkins) Bulluck; secretary, Mary Moore.

Members present: Mary Arrington, Josie (Doub) Bennett, Josephine (Jenkins) Bulluck, Flora Griffin, Elizabeth Geiger, Lenore (Stone) Lassiter, Alice Virginia Poe, Mary C. Parrish, Alta Huffines, Mason Ricks, Mrs. J. A. Higgins, Margaret (Redmond) Thigpen, Helen (Austin) Robbins, Mary (White) Shuler, Maud (Bunn) Battle, Em Austin, Nan Bryan (Doub) Strum, De Lon (Cooper) Keareny, Mary Moore, Iola Parker.

RUTHERFORD COUNTY ASSOCIATION

With our chairman, Miriam (Dobbins) Haney, as hostess, Rutherford County alumnae assembled on the evening of October 4. We enjoyed singing once more the college song, and read together the Alumnae Club Ritual. This was followed by a discussion of the Alumnae Code, as contained in the "We Do Our Part" program. The club decided to furnish a shelf of children's books for the town library, and Viola Cowan, chairman, Gertrude Jones, and Emma (Young) Dorsey were named the committee to take charge of this project. We decided to have a second meeting in January. The committee in charge of this meeting is composed of Aylene Edwards, chairman, Murriel (Barnes) Erwin, and Bertha (McRorie) Dalton.

During the business meeting, the following officers were elected: chairman, Irene Hamrick; secretary-treasurer, Emma (Young) Dorsey. Delicious salad and sweets were served at the conclusion of the program to the following: Miriam (Dobbins) Haney, Bertha (McRorie) Dalton, Murriel (Barnes) Erwin, Emma (Young) Dorsey, Mozelle (Hunt) Burwell, Aylene Edwards, Gertrude Jones, Irene Hamrick, Viola Cowan, Grace Harrill, Willard Powers, and Frances McClain.

Irene Hamrick, Chairman.

VANCE COUNTY ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

At an enthusiastic dinner meeting held in Henderson on Thursday evening, October 12, the Vance County Alumnae Association reorganized, electing Catherine (Hight) Loughlin chairman. Miss Harriet Elliott, of the college faculty, was guest of honor at the dinner, and spoke on the place of the Woman's College in the Greater University of North Carolina. Miss Elliott was present in Henderson as opening speaker for the local Lecture Club. At the dinner, Maxine Taylor, of the high school faculty, presided and directed the program. Elizabeth Fox, accompanied by Dorothy Jones, sang. Athleen Turnage, also a member of the high school faculty, presented some of the plans which the college has formulated for the alumnae this year. The new president says, "we are very optimistic and sincerely hope that we shall have some accomplishments to report later."

WILSON COUNTY ASSOCIATION

The Wilson chapter had its Founder's Day meeting on the afternoon of October 5, at the home of Lillian (Edgerton) Grady in Wilson. We carried out the program "We Do Our Part," reading and explaining the four provisions of the Alumnae Code and adopting them as our guide during the coming year. A letter from President Foust was also read to the group. After a short business meeting, we decided to hold a second meeting in the spring, and have a spring "Round-Up," at which time we will elect new officers.

Lucy L. Culpepper, Reporter.

ETHEL LOUISE BYERLY '32
IN AFRICA

On July second, Ethel Louise Byerly sailed from the United States for West Africa, landed about four weeks later, and is now in Cape Mount, Liberia, working under the auspices of the American Church Mission of the Episcopal Church. Cape Mount is one of the oldest missions. There are two schools: Bethany, for girls, and St. John's, for boys. Ethel Louise lives in the same house with Mary Wood McKenzie, also an alumna of this college, whose old home is in Salisbury. Their living quarters, the chapel for girls, and the dormitory for the girls are all connected. The boys' school is in short walking distance. The mission is situated on a rise—about a third of the way up a 1000-foot hill, overlooking the ocean. Ethel Louise says that the scenery from her windows is beautiful. The native students are very appreciative. They are particularly fond of music, and are good students. The days are very full. There is always variety, if one will read her schedule: "I supervise primary work at Bethany, also teach fifth grade hygiene there; have a class in teacher training at St. John's; also teach physical education in both schools. Then I conduct morning chapel at Bethany twice each week, and evening prayers two days a week; chaperone the dormitory groups at play Friday nights, supervise the housekeeping and plan the meals every third week, and go to church twice on Sunday."

Ethel Louise spent last year studying at the Episcopal Training School in Philadelphia. She is a niece of Victoria and Lelia Byerly and Ida Lee (Byerly) Holt, all alumnae of this college.

MR. C. W. PHILLIPS SAYS

"The boys and girls of North Carolina have been looking and are going to continue to look to the adult world for leadership, guidance, and training. In this particular time of strain and stress there has been a noticeable falling off of interest in the childhood of the state on the part of the government, business, and men and women in general. School people have worked in most instances untiringly for a more adequate, intelligent, and wholesome educational system. Through no fault of their own they have failed in most instances.

"It is my opinion that if education is to return to its rightful place in this state it will be necessary for men and women, and particularly women, who are not connected with education to restore it to its place. The women of North Carolina and particularly college trained women will have to lead the fight. I sincerely believe that if the schools are to make progress the fight will be waged by parents and business leaders, while the school folks do the technical job of educating."

(Note: With much regret to the people of Greensboro Mr. Phillips resigned in the late summer as principal of the high school to enter the field of business.)

Among the Alumnae

Ivey (Lane) Wilder is president of the North Central District of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers. She lives at Spring Hope.

Moffitte (Sinclair) Henderson went to New York in October to attend the Third Annual Women's Conference on Current Problems, held in the Waldorf Astoria, on the 12th and 13th of the month, under the auspices of the Herald-Tribune. The subject of the conference was "This Crisis in History," and the theme was still further subdivided into "The World Outlook," "Youth Movements in the Present Crisis," "The Crisis in Education," and "Peace or War." Among the impressive list of headliners were Miss Lena Madison Phillips, president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs; the Honorable Frances Perkins; the Honorable Theodore Roosevelt; Madame Marie Curie; Mrs. F. Louis Slade; Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt; Dr. Harry W. Chase; Dean Virginia Gildersleeve; Dr. Mary E. Woolley; Mrs. Ogden Reid; and the President of the United States.

Lillian (Clark) Mogart, of Pittsburgh, visited her sister in Greensboro last summer and was extended numerous social courtesies by old friends. At one time Mrs. Mogart was official hostess of the City of Pittsburgh, conducting individual and group visitors about the city and helping them to enjoy Pittsburgh. Her husband is assistant in the department of extra-curricula activities in the University of Pittsburgh and has been on leave in England, studying for a doctor's degree at Oxford University.

Virginia (Townsend) Hayes' husband, Mr. P. A. Hayes, was last summer elected Grand Counselor of the United Commercial Travelers in the Carolinas. He is president of the Justice Drug Company, wholesale dealers, Greensboro.

Addie Houston, president of the Greensboro Business and Professional Women's Club, attended the national convention held in Chicago last summer, and of course saw the Century of Progress. Both events proved to be high spots.

Bayard Wooten, of Chapel Hill, is a photographer who can also be described as an artist. Her studies of folk life and scenery in the mountains of North Carolina; her records of characteristic and historical scenes of Charleston, S. C., to say nothing of her work in general, bespeaks the artist's feeling and the artist's eye for production. During the month of August, her work was exhibited for the second time in Boston at the Fine Arts Theatre. Her exhibits have also been displayed on various occasions in North Carolina—at the North Carolina Press Association during the winter, at the meeting of the North Carolina Education Association in Raleigh, at various schools and business women's clubs throughout the state.

Margaret (Blakeney) Blair has three sons, all of whom are in school this year. Her husband is superintendent of the schools at Wallace. Somehow Margaret finds time for numerous activities, besides those of homemaking. She is president of the missionary society in her church; also a member of the church board; secretary of the Southeastern District of the P.-T. A.; program chairman in her book club; chairman of the study course in the local P.-T. A., also a member of the hospitality committee, and a grade mother; is chairman of the social committee in the Woman's Club, an officer in the Eastern Star, a worker in the Associated Charities, and is also a member of a bridge club. We nominate her for a blue, blue ribbon.

CLASS OF 1895

Etta Spier, Secretary
Woman's College

"The Curriculum of the Palace School of the Turkish Sultans," by Barnett Miller, is now completed and appearing in printed form. As an introduction to the article, the reader is referred to certain sections in Miss Miller's book "Beyond the Sublime Porte," published by the Yale University Press in 1931. This won high praise from some of the foremost critics in the country, among them, Dr. MacDonald, associate editor of Isis, the official organ of the History of Science Society, who wrote a most appreciative review for that publication. Dr. MacDonald is a member of the Hartford Theological Seminary and a world authority on Mohammedan religion and peoples.

CLASS OF 1898

Florence Pannill spent several weeks in New York last summer, studying at Columbia University. She was accompanied by Miss Florence Hunt, who studied piano.

The Church of the Covenant, Greensboro, of which Lillie (Boney) Williams' husband is pastor, was host the latter part of August at the 120th annual three-day session of the Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina. The Synod held its meetings on the Woman's College campus, and since school hadn't opened, the visiting members were provided rooms in the dormitories and meals in the dining hall.

CLASS OF 1899

Mary Collins, Secretary, Enfield

Emma (Parker) Maddry is living in Richmond now, where her husband is Executive Secretary to the Baptist Conference Mission Board. The sympathy of many friends is hers in the irreparable loss of her mother last summer. Katherine, her daughter, is married and lives in Knoxville, Tennessee.

CLASS OF 1900

Mrs. J. T. Lowe (Auvila Lindsay), Secretary
Lexington

Miriam MacFadyen is the new treasurer of the P.E.O., one of Greensboro's well-known organizations for women. The club program for the winter will center around book reviews.

"Stars of the Summer Night" is the title of a short series of several articles written by T. Wingate Andrews and published in the Greensboro Daily News. His wife is Eleanor Watson. One interested in the heavens, though not an astronomer, would find these articles readable and enjoyable.

CLASS OF 1902

"Natural Gardens of North Carolina" was the subject of a talk given by Virginia (Brown) Douglas at a spring meeting of the Friday Afternoon Book Club, Greensboro, of which she has long been a member. At her country home near Greensboro, Mrs. Douglas is creating a swamp garden, containing all manner of plants which naturally "home" in a bog.

Frances (Cole) Nicholson, accompanied by her daughter Mary, and her son Frank, went to Chicago the latter part of August to visit another son who lives there, and also to see the Century of Progress.

CLASS OF 1903

Mary Taylor Moore, President
Woman's College

Annie (Kizer) Bost, State Commissioner of Public Welfare, represented the State of North Carolina at the annual Tobacco Festival held in Mullins, S. C., the latter part of August, and was one of the speakers on the program. The occasion was educational in character; recent national legislation and its effect upon the former, and other aspects of public welfare in general were discussed.

Acting for Dr. J. M. Parrott, secretary to the State Board of Health, she accepted Carlton Hall, gymnasium for girls, erected last summer at Carolina Pines, Incorporated, when the building was dedicated and opened for use.

Nettie (Parker) Wirth's daughter, Antoinette, graduated from the eighth grade, Elmwood School, Buffalo, New York, the latter part of June, with many honors for her young years. She was listed on the commencement program as having honors in Art, Home Economics, Music (she played in the school orchestra), and Physical Education; also as having been on the honor roll, both for punctuality and scholarship, all the year. On the final examination honor list, she was mentioned in geography, arithmetic, spelling, and penmanship. Her grade in arithmetic was 99.5. When the members of the upper grades wrote pledges of loyalty to President Roosevelt, her pledge was one of four selected to be sent to the White House. She was chosen as the poet of her class. Of the two medals open to her, she won the medal offered by the D. A. R., the basis of award being dependability ("as evidenced by punctuality, industry, neatness, truthfulness, loyalty, trustworthiness, self-control, cooperation, and influence for good"). The other medal was awarded on a basis of attendance 15%, deportment 15%, and scholarship 70%. While not winning this medal, Antoinette was given honorable mention. Knowing her mother, we can only add, it was just what one could expect!

CLASS OF 1904

Mrs. Earl Holt (Eugenia Harris), Secretary
Oak Ridge

Eugenia (Harris) Holt was hostess at a special meeting of the Ladies Aid Society last summer, at her home in Oak Ridge, called in order that the members might hear talks by Mack and James Stokes, boys who were brought up in Korea and who are now in this country studying for the ministry.

Florence Ledbetter was last summer appointed to the very important post of social service director of emergency relief work in Marion County, Florida, with headquarters at Ocalo. She was transferred to this position from the emergency relief office in Jacksonville. In her new capacity, she has under her supervision two full time assistants, one half time aide, three office workers, also a work director and supervisor of the women's sewing project. Her college friends and classmates will hear of this promotion with real approval and no surprise. After teaching school for several years, Florence attended the Hartford Theological Seminary, graduating from its School of Religious Education in 1928 with the degree of master of arts, and later studied at the New York School of Social Work. Her sister, Alice (Ledbetter) Walter '10, lives in Greensboro.

CLASS OF 1905

Mrs. J. R. Young (Annie McIver), Secretary
Greensboro

Emma (Sharpe) Avery and her daughter, Emma Sharpe Junior, spent the summer at Glendale Springs, Ashe County, the residence of Mrs. Mary Settle Sharpe, her mother.

CLASS OF 1907

Mary Exum, Secretary, Snow Hill

Marjorie (Kennedy) White is state chairman of Standard and Superior Associations of the North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers. While attending the Parent's and Teacher's Institute held in Chapel Hill the latter part of August, she was a guest of her niece, Lisbeth Parrott '25.

Mattie Kate Shaw is president of the Book Reviewer's Club, Carthage. Last year the club studied Russia. This year the program centers on certain aspects of life in the Far East. She and Eula Blue were joint hostesses to the group at the July meeting, held at Eula's home.

Mary (Strudwick) Berry gave a paper at an October meeting of the Wednesday Book Club, Greensboro. Her subject was "Current Conditions in Germany."

CLASS OF 1908

Edna Forney, Secretary, Woman's College

Edna Forney spent several weeks traveling in Europe last summer, prefacing her sailing date by a short visit with her sister, Grace (Forney) Mackie '22 in Cliffside Park, N. J.

Martha (Petty) Hannah has recently been signally honored by the Greensboro Business and Professional Women's Club. In appreciation of the fine service rendered to the club as its president, a roadside marker was presented to the City of Greensboro on the afternoon of October 5. The specific occasion was a district meeting of the clubs, with the state president as guest speaker at the banquet.

CLASS OF 1910

Katie Kime, Secretary
1709 Asheboro Street, Greensboro

Martha Meroney, whose mother is Lula Dixon, is president of the Day Student's organization at college this year.

The friends of Marion (Stevens) Hood and her husband take pleasure themselves in the statement made by State Treasurer Charles M. Johnson, ex-officio chairman of the State Banking Commission, in behalf of the Commission, regarding the fine quality of the service Mr. Hood is rendering in North Carolina as Commissioner of Banks:

"The North Carolina Banking Commission recognizes and wishes to make permanent record of its appreciation of the distinctive service which has been rendered to the state of North Carolina by Mr. Gurney P. Hood, commissioner of banks, from the beginning of his term of office.

"This was particularly evident during the banking crisis in the spring of 1933 when Mr. Hood was called upon not only to carry on the normal activities of his office, but to meet the emergency situations arising day and night.

"The commission is impressed and pleased at the character of the examinations of banks which are being made by the banking department which we believe to be thorough and efficient.

"We further commend the economies which have been effected in the administration of the affairs of the entire banking department under Mr. Hood's supervision."

Marion (Stevens) Hood has a son in college—Robin, who is a freshman at State. Sam is a senior in the Raleigh High School, and Lee Rawlings is coming along. All three boys are studying music in addition to their regular work. Marion is president of the Broughton High School P.-T. A. And this is only one of many outside things she finds time to do.

CLASS OF 1913

Mrs. S. S. Coe (Verta Idol), President
High Point

Ethel (Keiger) Bollinger is this year a member of the Greensboro Woman's Club Civics and Welfare Committee.

Ivey Paylor continues as principal of the Johnson Street School, High Point.

CLASS OF 1914

Mrs. J. H. McEwen (Iris Holt), President
Burlington

Leroy Shuping, whose wife is Ruth Hampton, is chairman of the State Board of Recovery. The state recovery boards "have the power at will 'to advise' and 'to report' and 'to act', when requested by the NRA." Among other things, the Recovery Board goes on the trail of violators of the NRA, after complaints have failed of adjustment in the local committees. Creating sentiment for the NRA is one of the board's most important tasks. Mr. Shuping was the speaker at a meeting of Asheboro merchants and business men held in Asheboro last August, discussing with them the plans, purposes, and workings of the NRA.

Iris (Holt) McEwen had Belle Lupton as her guest in Burlington last spring while Belle was attending a church meeting there. This was the first time they had seen each other since graduation, and so they had a great time checking up on each other and the '14's in general. Iris says Belle didn't show much wear from the war, teaching school, keeping house, or the depression!

At the dinner honoring Mrs. Chase Goog Woodhouse, president of the National Association of Altrusa Clubs, sponsored by the Greensboro unit, and attended by representatives of civic groups in the city and in the state, Fannie Starr Mitchell read greetings from prominent Altrusans and numerous Altrusa groups in other states who could not be present. Among these was a message from Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, an active member of the organization.

Rochelle (Pippin) Strowd and her husband are living now in Jonesboro, where they moved from Reidsville. Rochelle says they have a house all to themselves, and she is thoroughly enjoying the ancient art of house-keeping.

CLASS OF 1915

Katherine A. Erwin, President
1104 M Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

Ann Albright is back again in High Point. Last spring she gave a talk on "Social Trends" at a meeting of the A. A. U. W. held at the home of Mary (Green) Matthews '14.

Gertrude Carraway, New Bern, is a national vice chairman of publicity of the D. A. R.

Edith Haight is now teaching physical education in Ginling College, Nanking, China. She went to her new work last summer, after having served for several years in the same capacity in the University of Wyoming.

CLASS OF 1916

Mrs. Kemp Funderburk (Annie Beam), Secretary

Tempe (Boddie) Barringer was hostess at bridge last summer at her home in Sanford, honoring Ann (Watkins) Fonville '14, who was visiting Ruth Gunter '14.

Elizabeth (Craddock) Chadbourn, with her daughter, Miriam, who have made their home in Albuquerque, New Mexico, for a number of years, visited Maggie Staton (Howell) Yates '17 in Greensboro last summer.

Mary Gwynn is spending her second year as secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in High Point. She is really doing about three jobs in one—but then Mary could if anybody could.

Sadie (McBrayer) McCain went to Chicago last summer to visit the Century of Progress. She took along with her three of her own children and a nephew. They stayed four days, and nobody had a better time, we'll guess, than Sadie and her crew. The latter part of July she was hostess at a picnic and swimming party at Johnson's Lake, in honor of the Sanatorium internes.

CLASS OF 1917

Ann (Daniel) Boyd is thoroughly enjoying the experience of building a new home—as every one who has had such an experience interprets "enjoying": the biggest job in the world, the happiest job in the world, and one that under no circumstances we would ever undertake again, and yet we would undertake it again—head over heels—one always learns so much the first time, you know! We hear that it is brick, of Colonial architecture, and is located on a lot large enough for "the gang" to have grand times playing. Ann has four children—Margaret Jan, now 11½, Louis Jr., 10, Fred Daniel, 4, and Ann, 2. In addition to homemaking, she is very active in church and P.-T. A. work.

Caroline (Goforth) Hogue is chairman of the Poetry Contest Committee of the A. A. U. W. in Washington City. The contest is held annually for the purpose of encouraging creative writing on the part of college students in Washington. An issue of a Washington paper carried a photograph of Carrie, together with the president of the A. A. U. W., presenting the prize to the winners.

CLASS OF 1918

Mrs. Charles Finch (Susan Green), Secretary
Thomasville

Inabelle Coleman still lives in Greensboro. She is a writer for Baptist young people's publications, and often speaks on programs relating to the work of the Baptist Church. Inabelle had a short article in a recent issue of the Greensboro News, describing the program of the Southwide Baptist Missionary Week, as it had been formulated by Dr. Charles E. Maddry, executive secretary of the Foreign Mission Board, now living in Richmond. Dr. Maddry's wife is Emma Parker '99.

Marguerite Galloway is doing welfare work in White Plains, N. Y. She came to North Carolina the latter part of the summer for a visit with her people in Brevard. En route, she stopped for a few days in Greensboro with Lillie (Boney) Williams '98 and her family. Marguerite was for a number of years hostess at the Church of the Covenant.

Susan (Green) Finch was hostess to the members of the Happy Hour Music Club at her home in Thomasville, during May. Susan is a new member of the alumnae board of trustees.

Gladys (Murrill) Werner has four children—Charles Jr., twelve, who is in Junior High this year—a beautiful new school with everything the most modern; Jean, eleven; Lee, nine; and Katherine, the youngest, who is a first-grader this year. Gladys loves Long Island and that part of these United States, but she says she is still a Tar Heel, and that some day she may make Tar Heels out of her our little Yankees—and that pleases her Carolina friends just exactly. Gladys says she loves every nook and tree on the campus of alma mater. A day in New York City itself with the children, going to the Automat, to the great delight of the youthful four, a jaunt to Coney Island, another adventure to the beach and the air festival at Roosevelt Field in October, where Mary Pickford had a booth—all these things the Werners-four enjoy with their mother, who keeps a warm place in her heart for Tarheelia!

CLASS OF 1919

Mrs. J. H. Thompson (Mary Bradley), Secretary
231 Leak Avenue, Wadesboro

Several of the '19-ers met together in Chapel Hill this summer and had a great experience hearing all about what every one had done and said and thought since last they met. Ezda Deviney was there, studying in the summer session, working toward her Ph.D. She teaches at Florida State College. Katherine (Wilson) White was also a member of the group. Her home is in Chapel Hill. Katherine received her Ph.D. in English from the University, and in 1931 was married. She does a lot of outside work in music, painting, and club activities. Adelaide Van Noppen has four fine children—she is "growing" along with them. The fourth child is a little daughter, also named Adelaide. Netus Andrews was also a member of the gang. She too has her M.A. from the University and teaches in the high school there. We enjoyed sidelights on her travels in Europe as well as in the States.

Mamie (Leeper) Burnett was also one of the bunch. She is at her mother's in Belmont. Mamie has a dear little boy. Marjorie Craig was also spending another summer, studying, and she like all the others, reveled in this unpremeditated get-together—as one of those unforeseen joys! Luckily Margaret Hayes was visiting friends in Chapel Hill, and so she counted in too. She is doing a fine job in the State College for Teachers, Albany, and we hear has a book in manuscript which awaits the lifting of the depression for publication.

At the Parent-Teacher Institute, conducted in Chapel Hill during August, Dr. George Howard, of the University Department of Education, whose wife is Adelaide Van Noppen, addressed the session on the new school law in North Carolina, giving an analysis of some of its provisions and probable results.

Mary Poteat is back at her post as head of the English Department at Peace Institute, after two years leave of absence which she spent studying at Duke University. Her Ph.D. degree is now in sight.

CLASS OF 1920

Marjorie Mendenhall, Secretary
Lake Drive, Greensboro

Winnie (Smith) McKinney sends her alumnae dues, in order not to miss the News. She is living at Rural Hall, where her husband is pastor of the Methodist Church.

Marjorie Mendenhall makes a welcome return to the campus this fall. She is teaching Dr. Kendrick's courses in history while he is doing special writing and research. Marjorie has been studying at Chapel Hill for the last two years, working toward her Ph.D. and is now not very far from her goal.

Carrie (Tabor) Stevens did an important piece of work for the Red Cross in Bladen County last spring, both in helping to organize the lunch rooms for the undernourished, and to distribute clothing and supplies. She is also district president of the Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs, and chairman of Foods and Nutrition in the county. Then there is the P.-T. A., in which she is also active. But homemaking must of necessity in these times extend beyond four walls, and the '20's are proud of such a community leader as Carrie is.

Lela (Wade) Phillips and her family are living now in Middlesboro, Kentucky, where Mr. Phillips is associated with the Blue Bell Overall Company. Mr. Phillips resigned his post as principal of the Greensboro High School in the late summer to accept the new work in the field of business. The whole family carry with them the loyal affection of the people of Greensboro, who are looking forward to the time when they are to be welcomed back to the city. Lela leaves her work as president of Sunset Hills Garden Club, and other church and community interests.

CLASS OF 1921

Mrs. Laurie Ellis (Reid Parker), Secretary
R.F.D., Winterville

Virginia (Davis) Perry was a major in the NRA campaign conducted in Greensboro the latter part of August. Among those who assisted her were Hazel (Edwards) Conkwright, Dawson (Slaughter) Millikan '26, and Martha (Brooks) Callum '24.

Sarah (Poole) Cartland entertained at bridge the last of August at her home in Greensboro for Marjorie Cartland '27, bride-elect. Among the guests were Rachel Donnell, Corday (Olive) Koonts, and Hermene (Warlick) Eichhorn '26.

CLASS OF 1922

Mrs. Chas. C. Erwin (Muriel Barnes), Secretary
Forest City

Frances (Singleton) Lassing is now living in Greensboro, where her husband is civil engineer with the State Highway Commission. She has two young sons, Henry III, and James. They came here from Henderson.

CLASS OF 1923

Mrs. Newton G. Fonville (Mary Sue Beam), Secretary
106½ Ashe Street, Raleigh

Carrie Brittain gave a bridge luncheon at her home in Asheboro the last of August, honoring Marjorie Cartland '27, of Greensboro, whose marriage was approaching. Rachel Donnell and Ethel (Kearns) Hogshead '22 were among the guests.

Dorothy Clement went to Asheville last May as one of a trio of musicians from the college faculty, who gave a recital at Grove Park Inn for the Review Club of that city. Dorothy was pianist; Miss Edythe Schneider, teacher of voice, soprano soloist, and Miss Gertrude Friedrich, was violinist. Virginia (Terrell) Lathrop was in charge of the recital. Dorothy was her over night guest.

Nell Craig, president of the Greensboro Altrusa Club, presided at the dinner given in the ballroom of the King Cotton early in September, honoring Mrs. Chase Going Woodhouse, president of the National Association of Altrusa Clubs. As presiding officer, she carried the theme of a star's place in the scheme of things throughout the dinner program, referring to the honor guest as the brightest star in the constellation.

Sara (Harper) Jerome is a member of the Tuesday Study Club in Greensboro and was hostess to the group at a spring meeting last year. Sara honored Maggie Staton (Howell) Yates '17 at a tea in the early fall, just before Mrs. Yates left Greensboro to live in New York. Elizabeth (Lindsay) Shaw '22 and Mollie (Matheson) Boren were among those who assisted her in receiving.

In the late summer Eleanor (Hill) Smith was hostess at a lovely bridge luncheon at her home in Mount Airy. Nell (Folger) Glenn '24, now living in Danville, Va., was among the guests.

Charles W. Irvin, whose wife is Pearl Taylor '23, is president of the Greensboro Merchants Association.

CLASS OF 1924

Cleo Mitchell, Secretary
510 Forest Street, Greensboro

Mary (Brannock) Blauch spent the greater part of the summer with her mother in Greensboro. She is back again this fall in Chicago, where her husband continues his research and writing in the field of dentistry, at the University of Chicago. Katherine Moser '33 went back with her on the train to enter the University for her year of study under the Weil Fellowship.

Faith (Johnson) Bunn was matron of honor at the wedding of her sister in Winston-Salem last summer. Faith and her husband are managing the hotel in Clinton and making it a real home for travelers.

Kathleen (Windley) Grant says she can hardly wait for Christmas to come when she expects to journey all the way from Texas to show her baby daughter, Kathleen Windley, to all the relatives and friends. They are living in Baytown, where her husband is Safety Director of the Humble Oil and Refining Company. She says they like the place, but of course think there's no place quite like the Tar Heel State.

CLASS OF 1925

Mae Graham, Secretary
406 Jones Street, High Point

Mary Louise (Bailey) Farrington is president of the Thomasville Afternoon Book Club. Her husband is a physician. They have two charming children.

Lisbeth Parrott is this winter living in Chapel Hill, where she is connected with Dr. Crane's office. By special request of the Raleigh Community Chest she was loaned to that group to do the publicity work in connection with their fall campaign.

Pauline (Tarleton) Ellis' husband was awarded the contract to repair the damage done to the hard-surfaced highway from Kitty Hawk to Manteo by the recent storms on the coast. It is hard to realize that Pauline has a daughter six years old, and yet Susanne celebrated her sixth birthday last summer, when her mother gave a swimming party in the pool in her garden. Among the children who were present were Dick and Louise Eichhorn, children of Hermene (Warlick) Eichhorn '26, Jack Elam, son of Elizabeth (Martin) Elam, and Mary Lou and Anne Williams, whose mother is Mary Parker (Fryar) Williams.

CLASS OF 1926

Georgia Kirkpatrick, President
116 St. Mary's Street, Raleigh
Harriet Brown, Secretary, Washington

Ruth Blair Ader, who teaches in New Brunswick, N. J., visited relatives in Greensboro last summer.

Grey (Fetter) Bedford, accompanied by her daughter, Grey Fetter, spent several weeks with her parents in Greensboro last summer. Grey's home is in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mary Alice Fowler is this year supervisor of music in the city schools of Wilmington, Delaware. The general director of music is Glenn Gildersleeve, who was several years ago head of the work in music in the Greensboro schools.

Ruth Henry is back at her post in the North Wilkesboro schools, teaching second grade work.

Lena Keller continues her work as librarian at Lenoir-Rhyne College, Hickory.

Mildred (Little) Hendrix was also a guest in Greensboro last summer, visiting relatives and friends.

Ellen (Stone) Scott's aunt, Miss Mabel Pugh, is the author of a new book for children, called "Little Carolina Bluebonnet." Miss Pugh is also an artist of distinction, and the title of the book is the same as that of her best known painting. Morrisville, near Raleigh, North Carolina, is the setting for the story, and "Mollie," to whom the book is dedicated, is Ellen's mother.

Hermene (Warlick) Eichhorn had a composition, "Silver Balloons," to be published recently in the Etude, national music magazine. She is the author of several numbers for piano and voice, one of her most recent voice compositions being "Whatever God there Be."

Emma Leah (Watson) Perrett is living now in Sedgewick, near Greensboro. Ruth (Watson) Scarborough gave a "bon voyage" party for her at her home in Greensboro last summer. Among the guests were Ethel (Kearns) Hogshead '22 and Luna Clyde (Kearns) Hames.

CLASS OF 1927

Mrs. E. W. Franklin (Tempie Williams), Secretary
West Davis Street, Burlington

Eleanor Barton is again teaching in Edgewood Park Junior College, Greenwich, Conn. She spent the greater part of the summer at her home in Greensboro, going to New York City for a visit before resuming her work in the early fall.

Phoebe (Baughan) Barr and her husband are residents of Chapel Hill.

Ruth Davenport spent several weeks last summer on a Mediterranean cruise, sailing from New York early in July. She teaches primary work in the Albany Academy for Boys, Albany, New York.

Julia (Bryant) Farmer visited her husband's family at Marshall last summer. She has a baby daughter very nearly of an age with Edna (Rice) Sprinkle's little son, and the two children played together, Edna says, while their mothers talked of many things, including of course, days and folks at college.

Katharine (Gregory) Richards came to Greensboro last summer for a visit with her people. She is doing social service work in Baltimore.

Eleanor Hatcher studied at Chapel Hill last summer, and was social chairman in Old West dormitory.

Ruth Linney, Roaring River, has another interesting feature article in a recent Sunday's edition of the Greensboro News. This time she writes about the Old Tilley Place in Wilkes County—a house built ninety-two years ago, and in its time serving as church, dance hall, store, blacksmith shop, government distillery, as well as farm house and center of hospitality. Ruth creates a great deal of historical atmosphere in her story, disinters a few ghosts and goblins, and details no end of interesting incidents and episodes.

Nina Smith has a new position—secretary with General Motors in Charlotte. She says that after the supplement failed to carry, she resigned her job as secretary at Central High, especially since she didn't know whether she had one or not! And the very next day brought her present good luck. Nina is local chairman of the alumnae association.

CLASS OF 1928

Minnie Walker, President, Duke Hospital, Durham
Mrs. Boydston Satterfield (Frances Gibson), Secretary
3418 91st St., Apt. C22, Jackson Heights, New York

Ruth Bellamy is in New York this winter, working at the Plaza. Her address is 416 W. 118th Street.

Opal Brown, of Jamesville, and Mary Huffines, of Greensboro were two members of an automobile party who saw the World's Fair last July.

Sara Foust was one of the workers who signed up Greensboro in the NRA campaign last summer. She is teaching again in the Charlotte system.

Vivian Kearns is a seed analyst for the Department of Agriculture, Washington. She came to Greensboro the early part of September to visit her family.

Ruth Minick, Mount Airy, is a district director for young people's work in the Methodist Church, and in that capacity attended the young people's assembly held at Lake Junaluska last summer.

Katharine (Shenk) Mauncy played the title role of "Jack" in the play "Jack and the Beanstalk," given by the Junior Woman's Club in Aycock auditorium on November 4, as a benefit for the emergency home for dependent children. The maintenance of this home is one of the major projects of the club. Others having parts in the production included Ona Helms '29, Catherine Cox '27, and Margaret Crews '30. Hermene (Warlick) Eichhorn, member of the club, composed two dances and several little songs scattered along in the play. Elizabeth Langford '33 was in charge of the lighting. General supervision was given by Daphne (Waters) Lewis, drama league chairman.

Winnie Murphy studied at Chapel Hill during the summer, reading Chaucer and the Nineteenth Century Poets. She also worked with the Playmakers, and took the part of Juanita La Rosa in "Women Have Their Way," which the organization presented early in July in the Forest Theatre. Winnie said the Spanish setting and costuming was really gorgeous.

CLASS OF 1929

Virginia Kirkpatrick, President
510 E. Morehead, Charlotte
Era Linker, Secretary
87 Meadow Street, Concord

Bertha Barnwell, who is connected with the Greensboro Daily News, went to Chicago last summer to visit the World's Fair. She went by way of Baltimore and also visited her people in Hendersonville on the return trip.

Camille (Brinkley) Schiffman is this year chairman of the Literature Department of the Greensboro Woman's Club.

Mozelle Causey is an interested member of the Grange. At a summer meeting in Graham, she took part in the ceremonies which initiated several new members into the Pomona unit, which is the Alamance County group. Myrtle (Nicholson) Coble '09-'11 was in charge of administering the degrees.

Ruth Clinard was one of those who saw the Century of Progress. She went the latter part of September, going with a party from High Point, her home. Ruth is again in Boydton, Virginia, where she heads up the county unit of the Red Cross.

Louise (Dannenbaum) Falk gave a talk early in September at a meeting of the Greensboro Gardeners' Club, using as her subject "The Care and Planting of Bulbs." Her husband, Herbert S. Falk, is one of five representatives of the depositors of the three Greensboro offices of the North Carolina Bank and Trust Company in the new state wide bank. From this group he was chosen to serve on the board of liquidation as the representative of the Greensboro depositors. Two other banks, the Page Trust Company and the Independence Trust Company of Charlotte, are also included in the "foundation," out of which the new bank is evolving through a pooling of the "best assets" of each.

Mary Inglis has a splendid new job this year—dean of the School of Business at Queens-Chicora College, Charlotte. It is a new department, established this year. Previous to her present position, she had been head of the Commercial Department of the Technical High School in Charlotte.

Rosalie Jacobi was another '29-er who saw the World's Fair at Chicago. On her way back to Wilmington, she stopped in Greensboro for a visit with Louise (Dannenbaum) Falk.

Emma Lee Koon is teaching first grade in the North Wilkesboro schools.

Era Linker gave a lovely tea at her home in Concord last summer. Pauline Linney, of Wilkesboro, was one of her guests. Era and Margaret Duckworth, of Morganton, also went to the Century of Progress and came back by way of Greensboro, where they spent a week-end with Sarah Mendenhall.

Wilma (Coble) McCulloch sends the greetings of another junior member of the class—Baby Wilma, now nearly four months old—to her little class sister and her seven class brothers, and to any others who may have arrived since the class reunion last June. Her mother says she finds the Alumnae News a source of continuous delight, and she looks forward to receiving each new number.

Mildred Moore, Corinne Cook, and Ona Helms are all active members of the Greensboro Junior Woman's Club. The major philanthropy of the club is the support of the emergency home where dependent children are cared for under the direction of the Juvenile Court.

Marguerite Smith received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Library Science at Western Reserve last June.

Ethel Snow studied at the University of Illinois last summer.

Edna (Rice) Sprinkle had Margaret Duckworth as a guest in her home at Marshall last summer, Margaret having just returned from the Chicago Fair. Edna says incidentally that babies are lots of trouble, but well worth all of it!

Mable Topping is teaching high school history in North Wilkesboro.

Mildred Moore was swimming counselor at the Greensboro Girl Scout Camp last summer, and swimming according to the camp director proved to be the most popular sport of the season.

CLASS OF 1930

Betty Sloan, President
17 East 9th Street, New York
Mrs. M. H. Williams (Edith Webb), Secretary
Chapel Hill

Panthea Boyd is teaching elementary work this year in Colfax.

Alma Campbell is the author of a little volume, "Songs of Southland," which is due to appear this winter.

Charlotte Chaffin was elected a delegate to represent the Lee County Young Democrats at the State Convention held at Wrightsville Beach last summer. She is secretary of the Lee County Alumnae Association.

Margaret Crews and Helen Felder are interested members of the Junior Woman's Club, Greensboro. Helen takes a special interest in the Drama League. Margaret worked on the advertising campaign for the Woman's Club Yearbook.

Frances Johnson is living at her home in Greensboro this winter, and teaching primary work at Sedgewick. Previous to this year she has taught in the High Point city system and was re-elected for a fourth year, but was later released to accept the work at home.

Lucile McCollum is this year teaching fourth grade work at Wentworth.

Glenn Boyd MacLeod visited her parents in Greensboro last summer. She has a secretarial position in New York, following a year of study in secretarial training at Columbia University.

In the performance of "After Dark" given in Aycock Auditorium last summer under the direction of Mr. W. R. Taylor, for the benefit of the Babies' Milk Fund, three members of the class had a part. Charlotte Van Noppen appeared in a song and dance act. Susie Rogers Bizzelle assisted in painting the scenery. In act one, Edna Grantham sang "My Life Is Like a Scentless Rose."

Frankie-Jo (Mann) Torpy is living this winter in Alexandria, Va., and commutes to Washington for her work as junior botanist in the Agricultural Department. Last August she and her husband motored to North Carolina for a visit with their friends and relatives in Canton. Vivian Kearns '28 came down to Greensboro with them, and Frankie said they rode around the campus, but of course it looked very desolate, since school was out. Vivian also has a job as seed analyst in the United States Agricultural Department. On her way back, Frankie-Jo stopped in Newton where she saw two of the '30's—Cornelia Setzer and Evelyn Mebane. Cornelia is teaching in Newton again this year, while Evelyn is visiting her brother in Tennessee for a few months. In Canton, Frankie-Jo saw Fannie (Owen) Ashcraft, who is teaching a fifth grade there. Castello Bland and her husband had stopped to see Fannie on their honeymoon. Kathleen Newsome also visited Fannie early in the fall. She is again teaching at Oakboro. Frankie-Jo says that Thelma Harris, a 1928 commercial student, went back to Washington with them, and is living in their house. She also sees Rachel Lane ('26-'29) now and then. She and her sister have an apartment, and report it fun. Another item of interest was the opportunity to see the pictures of Lucille (Sharp) Hassall's '28 baby—a lovely baby, she agrees. Frankie-Jo's husband has left government service and tied in with a commercial firm where there is more chance for advancement. He likes his new job, and both are finding life a lot of fun!

Elizabeth Wilkinson, of Cary, Irene Hester, of Burlington, Margaret Hood, of Greensboro, were three members of the class who saw the Century of Progress, though at different times, the past summer.

CLASS OF 1931

Mary Jane Wharton, President
51 Hillhouse Ave., New Haven, Conn.
Helen Petrie, Secretary, Lenoir

Eloise Banning won her degree of master of science in Social Administration from Western Reserve University last June. The subject of her thesis was "An Analysis of Leaders' Technique as Revealed in a Study of Club Programs." The work was based on the records of eight selected groups at the University Neighborhood Centers in Cleveland, with respect to the techniques of the leader in planning and developing a program. Eloise has been studying at Western Reserve since her graduation.

Mary Ellen Bass returned to Colfax for her third year as a teacher in the elementary division.

Kate Robinson was gypsy leader at the Greensboro Girl Scout Camp during vacation.

Cecil Rogers is this year a member of the staff of the Greensboro Board of Public Welfare. For two years she did part-time graduate study at the University of Pittsburgh, taking courses in social service, and at the same time did case work with the local welfare agency.

Helen Seifert and Frances White have completed the residence requirements of their course at Western Reserve in Family Case Work.

Nell (Thurman) Morrissett gave the third in a series of "musical half hours" presented at the college during the summer session last summer. She played four organ numbers.

Selma Stegall attended summer session at Chapel Hill last summer, and is this year teaching in the school at Landis.

Mary Jane Wharton is back at Yale for a third year, continuing her work, and assisting in the Department of Zoology.

CLASS OF 1932

Mrs. R. L. D. Hood [Avery (Pansy) McConnell]
President
609 West 115th Street, Apt. 19, New York
Mary Sterling, Vice President, Walkertown
Margaret Church, Secretary, Rutherford College
Iris Nelson, Treasurer, Stokes
Rachel Blythe, Cheer Leader, Paw Creek

Doris Abbott, Elizabeth City, entertained at bridge during August, honoring Jeanette Trotter '31, of Pilot Mountain, who was visiting Elizabeth Chapman '32.

Mary Virginia Barker is again teaching in the high school of her home town, Elkin.

Mary Brandt continues her studies at the Denishawn School, New York, and teaches dances at a studio in the city.

Margaret Church is enjoying her work as librarian in the new state supported college and high school, Rutherford College. She likes being so nearly among the mountains, but at the same time she misses "N. C. C. W."

Helen Comer is again working in the public library, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

Edna Henley and Elizabeth Henley were both on the staff of the conference of the women of the auxiliary held during August at Vade Mecum, the Episcopal center of the diocese of North Carolina. The conference lasted for two weeks, and was featured by study courses and lectures.

Marion Holoman is spending her second year at Western Reserve University, enrolled in the Course in Family Case Work.

Margaret Kendrick received the degree of B.S. in Library Service, Columbia University, June, 1933.

Emma Miller spent last year doing special work in dietetics at the Minneapolis, Minnesota, General Hospital, finishing her course the latter part of April. Her home is in Canandaigua, N. Y.

Mary Henri Robinson, Robin Hood leader; Dorothy Donnell, pioneer leader; and Rose Goodwin, Peter Pant leader, were all members of the staff of the Greensboro Girl Scout Camp last summer. The camp was located on Rock Creek, and during the seven weeks of its operation, 188 girls were in attendance—from one week to all seven. The season was originally scheduled for six weeks, but was extended one week additional, and there were requests for another extension. A rating from the county inspector regarding the housekeeping read, "Sanitation approved by the North Carolina State Board of Health." Mary Henri has a good job in an office in Greensboro, and is studying shorthand at night. She says all the odds are against school teaching.

Helen Shuford visited the campus this summer while at home on her vacation. Helen is on the staff of the Family Welfare Agency of Baltimore. She and her mother and sister enjoyed the World's Fair together.

Brownie Taylor is again teaching English in the Denton High School.

Elizabeth Thompson received her master of Science in Social Work from William and Mary College in Richmond, on September 2, and has a job with the Family Service Agency in that city.

Helen Worsham is teaching a second year in the Reidsville schools.

Necrology

In Memoriam

Huldah (Slaughter) Powell '11 died at her home in Goldsboro early in August, after an illness of nearly two years. In addition to her husband, two children survive, a son and a daughter. To these, and to her sisters, Mary Slaughter '12, Goldsboro, Leah (Slaughter) Sheppard, Guilford College, and Dawson (Slaughter) Millikan '26, Greensboro, the sympathy of many college friends is extended.

Josephine Causey, of the Class of 1920, died at her home in Greensboro on July 19, after an illness of several months. Since her graduation she taught with recognized success in the schools of the state, thirteen years in the Greensboro High School. Teachers and students alike were her friends and she was theirs. In the classroom, where she taught French, in connection with the girls' athletics and in the program of journalism, as well as in her church, she served happily and well.

Delia (McRimmon) LeConte, of the Class of 1932, who was married a few days after her graduation. She spent last year at Chapel Hill, where her husband, Mr. Joseph N. LeConte, studied for his Doctor's degree. Early in September, a little son was born in Atlanta, where she and her husband were spending the summer. Delia passed away a few days after the baby's birth. The child is doing well. To her husband, and to her sister, Jestina McRimmon '28, we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

We extend our deepest sympathy:

To Emma (Parker) Maddry '99, Richmond, Va., in the passing of her mother during the summer, following a long illness.

To Pearl Wyche '03 in the passing of her brother, Dr. J. E. Wyche, early in July.

To Lelia and Victoria Byerly, and Ida (Byerly) Holt '08 in the death of their mother last spring at her home in Cooleemee.

To Massa Lambert '08-'09, Asheboro, in the passing of her father at his home, early last May, following a short illness.

To Mary (Mitchell) Sellars '09 and Fannie Starr Mitchell '14, Greensboro, in the death of their aunt in Wilmington, the last of July.

To Natalie Nunn '11, whose father, former Sheriff Nunn of Lenoir County, died early in September, following an illness of several months.

To Mary (Van Poole) Phillips '12, Albemarle, and Ruth Van Poole '23, Salisbury, in the death of their father, Dr. C. M. Van Poole, the last of July, at his home in Salisbury.

To Nell Callahan '12-'13 in the death of her brother early in August, at his home in Philadelphia.

To Florence (Jeffress) Hamilton '13 and Mary Elizabeth (Jeffress) Whaley, in the death of their father, at his home in Fletcher, during July.

To Evelyn (Hodges) Glenn '21, Scarsdale, N. Y., and to Eva Hodges '23, Greenville, in the passing of their father early in August, at his home in Greenville, following an attack of pneumonia.

To Velma Beam '24 in the death of her brother in Cherryville, the latter part of August.

To Margaret (Herring) Mask '27 in the death of her father early in September at his home in Greensboro.

To Miriam Hardin '30, Greensboro, in the death of her father, June 26, in a Morehead City hospital, following an automobile accident several days previous.

To Jean Culbertson '25 in the passing of her father early this fall.

To Mary (Morris) O'Day '25 whose mother died in Goldsboro the latter part of September.

To Elizabeth Strickland '25 in the death of her sister in Goldsboro early in November.

To Wombra (McCombs) Anthony '26, Greensboro, and Elizabeth (McCombs) Galloway '29, Charlotte, in the death of their father, Dr. C. J. McCombs, who passed away at his home at Mint Hill on September 27.

To Helen Simons '32 in the death of her mother in July, 1933.

Marriages

Miss Isadore Blacklock, who is spending her third year at college in charge of the Nursery School in the School of Home Economics, was married on October 6, in the First Presbyterian Church, Greensboro, to John Franklin White, of Ruffin. Kathryn (Brown) Hodgkin '29 played the wedding music. The bride is a graduate of Columbia University and of Merrill Palmer College, Detroit, Mich. The bridegroom is a graduate of Duke University.

Emma Wellons '14-'15 to R. A. Broome, July 1, at the bride's home, Smithfield. The bride taught for several years in the schools of Smithfield and Rocky Mount. The bridegroom is superintendent of the Export Tobacco Company's plant, Rocky Mount, where they are at home.

Camille Campbell '19 to Frank Gamble, July 14, at the home of the bride's parents, Salisbury. Camille was dressed in the ivory satin wedding gown and dainty slippers which her mother had worn at her own wedding. Camille's teaching experience includes Cherryville, Newton, and Salisbury, her home town, usually home economics. Mr. Gamble is engaged in business in Newton. Following a wedding reception at which relatives and close friends were guests, they left for a trip, and are now at home in Newton.

Maude Alma Bundy '23 to Calvin Marshall Hackler, August 12, at the home of the bride's parents, Mount Airy. Only intimate friends and relatives were present for the simple but impressive ceremony, and the pair were unattended. Since her graduation the bride has been a member of the faculty of the Winston-Salem schools. The bridegroom is in business in Winston-Salem, where they are at home.

Grace Lee Caviness '23-'24 to Newton P. Cox, August 5, Greensboro. Only members of the immediate families were present. The bride taught in the Greensboro schools for several years. The bridegroom is connected with the United States Navy service in Greensboro, where they are at home.

Linda Rogers Smith '24 to Leland Earle Chisholm, July 17, Riverside Church, New York City, Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, officiating. Margaret (Smith) Stringfellow '26, was the bride's only attendant. For the past two years, Linda has been connected with the New York Public Library. Previous to that time she taught English in the high schools of Asheville and Charlotte. She had also done graduate study at the University of North Carolina and Virginia and at Columbia University. Mr. Chisholm is a graduate of Columbia University, and is connected with the Chase National Bank of New York. At home Staten Island, N. Y.

Jewel Sumner '24 to Dr. G. E. Kirkman.

Elizabeth Moretz '25-'27 to George Edward Copeland, July 28, Charleston, S. C. Since leaving college the bride has taught in the schools of Hickory. She has also traveled extensively in this country and Europe. The bridegroom is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, and of the National School of Fine and Applied Arts, Washington. After spending several weeks at Provincetown, Mass., they are at home in Washington.

Laura Beth Gaylor '26 to John Hardesty Alpers, August 17, Chicago, Ill. For several years the bride has taught in the High Point city schools. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Knox University and the University of Illinois, and is connected in business with Robert Schaefer Construction Company, Chicago. After a visit to Wisconsin by motor, they are at home in High Point.

Agnes N. Reeks '26 to Charles Anderson Walker, Jr., Sunday afternoon, July 8, Methodist Episcopal Church, Norfolk, Va. Since her graduation, Agnes has taught primary work in the schools of Liberty and Macon. Mr. Walker is an alumnus of Elon College, and is now engaged with his father in business in New York City.

Elizabeth Sutton '26 to Meredith Smith, August 29, Raleigh. The bride has taught in the Lexington schools since her graduation. The bridegroom, an alumnus of State College, is connected with the Asheboro Courier. At home Asheboro.

Edna Slack '26-'27 to Chester W. Arnold, September 16, Proximity Methodist Church, Greensboro. Edna is employed with the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Company. The bridegroom is a graduate of Davidson College, and a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is connected with the shipping department of Proximity Manufacturing Company. At home Greensboro.

Marjorie Cartland '27 to Fred M. Colmer, at five in the afternoon, September 2, at the home of the bride's parents, Greensboro. As a prelude to the nuptial service, a program of wedding music was rendered, for which Hermene (Warlick) Eichhorn '26 was pianist. The bride wore a semi-formal gown of canary yellow flat crepe, with bronze and brown accessories, and carried an arm bouquet of Talisman roses. During the informal reception which followed, Mattie Williams '08, Rachel Donnell, Virginia Goodman '27, Sarah (Poole) Cartland, and Carrie Brittain '23 assisted in serving. For the past three years Marjorie has been living in Birmingham where she taught in the social service department of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company. Previously she studied a year at Columbia University and taught in North Carolina. She was honored at numerous pre-nuptial social courtesies. The bridegroom is a graduate of Mississippi A. and M. College, and has a position as metallurgist for the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, Birmingham, where they are at home.

Pauline Crowson '27 to Lawrence Thornton, at six in the evening, June 22, St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Goldsboro, Pauline wore a becoming costume of sheer sapphire crepe, with accessories to match. Since graduation she has been a teacher of high school English in North Carolina. Mr. Thornton is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, and is now associated with the Cumberland County Board of Education. At home Fayetteville.

Vernelle Fuller '27 to J. Reid Blackwell, June 28, First Methodist Church, Henderson. Vernelle has been teaching high school French and English since her graduation, the last two years at Kernersville. Mr. Blackwell is a tobacco buyer, and after several weeks spent at Mullins, S. C., they are at home in Winston-Salem.

Rebekah Smith '27 to Robert Moody Davis, at four-thirty in the afternoon, April 12, at the home of the bride's parents, Leaksville. Members of the immediate families and very close friends were present. Stately palms and ferns, interspersed with floor baskets of gladiolas and lilies formed the background for the speaking of the vows. Sallie Sharp '33 played several violin numbers previous to the entrance of the bridal party. Sallie Smith '28, was maid of honor. The bride wore a lovely gown of white triple sheer, fashioned on princess lines, with a veil of tulle, held fitted to her head with a lace cap. Since graduation, Rebekah has taught in the Leaksville schools. She has incidentally done additional study at Columbia University. Mr. Davis is an overseas veteran, and is superintendent of public works of Leaksville. At the buffet supper given by the bride's parents in honor of the wedding party, Sallie Sharp '33, Jewel Sumner '24, and Minnie Walker '28 were among the guests.

Burnlee Davis '27-'28 to David Smith, August 25, Salisbury. After leaving this college, the bride entered Rex Hospital, Raleigh, for training as a nurse. The bridegroom attended the University of North Carolina. At home Raleigh, where the bridegroom is connected with the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

Emma Ann Dark '27-'28 to Howard R. Oldham, June 24, Siler City. For several years Emma has held a secretarial position with the Central Carolina Telephone Company. The bridegroom attended State College, and is now manager of one of the Horn and Hardt cafeterias, New York City.

Blake Irene Evans '27-'28 to John Harold Regan, June 23, in the home of the bride's mother, Cooleemee. The bridegroom is an alumnus of State College. At home Greensboro.

Clare Case Ingram '27-'30 to Morris A. Jones, June 22, at the Little Church-Around-the-Corner, New York. Clare wore a semi-formal blue afternoon dress with accessories to match. For some time previous to her marriage, Clare did social service work in High Point. The bridegroom is a graduate of Duke University, where he was founder and president of the German Club; member of the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity, the Polity Club, vice president of the Alpha Kappa Psi National Business fraternity, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He is associated in business with Sears, Roebuck and Company, with headquarters in High Point.

Musette Bradsher '28 to Ralph Harrison Raper, July 10, Edenton Street Methodist Church, Raleigh. Musette taught in the high schools of Raleigh and Edenton since her graduation. The bridegroom is a graduate of State College, with both B.S. and M.S. degrees, and has also been a member of the New Bern High School faculty. At home Lexington.

Letty Francis Gwyn '28 to Robert Samuel Dannenbaum, Sunday, July 2, Wilmington. Previous to her marriage, Letty taught in the city schools of Greensboro. The bridegroom attended the University of North Carolina and is connected in business with the Blue Bell Overall Company. At home Greensboro.

Hazel Kearns '28 to Rev. Clyde L. Boggs, August 3, at the home of the bride's parents, Farmer. Since her graduation, Hazel has taught in the Kinston schools. Her husband is a ministerial student at Duke University.

Ruth Bush '28-'29 to John Charles Laughton, June 5, Danville, Va. The bridegroom is a civil engineer.

Jessie Wooding '28-'29 to George S. Petty, April 15, Emanuel Episcopal Church, Chatham, Va. The bridegroom is connected with the advertising department of the Greensboro News-Record, and is president of the Gamma Sigma Club, young men's organization of the Y. M. C. A. At home Greensboro.

Dorothy Elizabeth Spencer '28-'29 to James Lewis Bird, August 5, Danville, Va. At home St. Augustine, Fla.

Roxie Tucker '28-'29 to William Frank Cross, June 30, Grifton, N. C. Among those who attended the wedding was Sallie (Tucker) Mumford '22, her sister, of Greensboro. Mr. Cross is a graduate of Duke University, and is engaged in business in Sunbury. For several years the bride taught in the schools of Sunbury, where they are at home.

Charlotte C. Hayes '28-'30 to John Perry Doshier, July 14, First Methodist Protestant Church, Asheville. Sue Underhill '30 was maid of honor. After spending two years at Woman's College, Charlotte entered the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where she graduated. She remained another year doing graduate work, and last year was clinical psychologist with the Child City Orphanage, Moosehart, Ill. Mr. Doshier is a graduate of High Point College, and holds a master's degree from the University of North Carolina. For the past two years he has been connected with the chemical laboratories of the American Enka Corporation. At home West Asheville.

Mary Alice Culp '29 to Charles Floyd Daniel, October 10, Gastonia. At home 623 Lincolnton Road, Salisbury. Since graduation Mary Alice has been a teacher in the Salisbury schools. Her husband is managing editor of the Salisbury Post.

Joanna Curtis '29 M.A., to George W. Prawl, June 10, Omaha, Nebraska. Previous to her marriage, Joanna taught English in the Central Junior High School, and previous to that, in the Gillespie Park Junior High, Greensboro. The bridegroom is a graduate of Iowa State College, Ames, and is associated with the Cudahy Packing Company, Omaha. At home there.

Katie Midyette '29 to Arthur E. Kilpatrick, September 16, in the Church of the Holy Cross, Aurora. Since her graduation, the bride has taught public school music in Whiteville. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Brown University, Providence, R. I., and is now associated in business with W. H. Jenkins Funeral establishment in Ansonia, Conn. At home Ansonia.

Elizabeth McCombs '29 to Irven Galloway, June 15, York, South Carolina. Since her graduation she has taught elementary work in the schools of Matthews, Monroe, and Mint Hill. At home Charlotte.

Margaret Louise Teague '29 to Henry Samuel Capps, November 3, Durham. Since her graduation Margaret has taught home economics in the high schools of Spring Hope and Bahama. Her new home is at 500 Pollock Street, Kinston.

Agnes G. Tucker '29-'30 to William Alfred Williams, August 1, at the home of the bride's mother, Hertford. The bridegroom is a graduate of Duke University, and is engaged in business at Hertford, where they are at home.

Jessie Bernice Sink '29-'30 to Raymond G. Russell, September 2, First Baptist Church, Lexington. At home Albemarle.

Laura Mae Young '29-'30 to W. T. Norman, June 26, Wilmington. For the past three years the bride has been connected with the Davidson County Welfare Department, at Lexington. The bridegroom attended the University of North Carolina, and is athletic director and member of the faculty of Bessemer High School. At home there.

Edith Hahn '29-'31 to Edward Smoot Plyler, June 17, Spencer. At home Columbia, S. C., where the bridegroom is connected with the International Harvester Company.

Beatrice Elise Daniels '30 to Robert S. Jordan, Jr., the afternoon of July 29, Manteo Baptist Church, Enfield. The bride was charmingly gowned in flesh chiffon with accessories to match. She was given in marriage by her father, following a program of wedding music. After her graduation, she traveled for some time in Europe, and later accepted the position of librarian in the Asheboro schools. The bridegroom is an alumnus of Stetson University, and a member of Pi Kappa Pi fraternity. He is district manager of Nickey Brothers, Inc., with office in High Point. He is a member of the Piedmont German Club and of the American Business Club. At home High Point.

Edith Webb '30 to Milton Howard Williams, September 2, Oxford Methodist Church, Oxford. Since her graduation, Edith has received her master of arts degree from the University of North Carolina, and is connected with the Institute of Research in the Social Sciences. The bridegroom is an instructor in philosophy at the University. He is an alumnus of Wesleyan University, and holds a master's degree from the University of North Carolina. Olive (Webb) Wharton '24 was present for the wedding. At home Chapel Hill.

Amanda Kindley Davis '30-'31 to John Thomas Gilbert, June 23, at the home of the bride's parents, Fayetteville. The bridegroom is a graduate of Oak Ridge Military Academy. At home Hope Mills.

Kendall May '30-'31 to William G. Coltrane, Jr., April 29, Danville, Va. The bridegroom is a graduate of Duke University, and holds a master's degree from the University of North Carolina.

Vivian Austin '30-'32 to Albert J. Thompson, Jr., April 19, Chesterfield, S. C. The bridegroom is a graduate of Davidson and of State College, and is connected with Cecil Ellington and his orchestra at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Mattibelle Fraley '31 to James Edgar Rankin.

Marie Frisard '31 to John Maurice Turner, Tuesday morning, August 22, Episcopal Church, Morganton. Olga Frisard '33 was maid of honor. Virginia Hall '29, of Hallsboro, and Frances Wertz '33, Asheville, were also present for the ceremony. Immediately after the ceremony, breakfast was served the members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests. For the past two years Marie taught in the schools of her home county. The bridegroom is connected with the Dixie Fire Insurance Company, Greensboro. At home there.

Frances Louise Gorham '31 to Theodore Bernard Winstead, December 27, 1932, Presbyterian manse, Emporia, Va. For the past two years Louise has been teaching public school music in the schools of Union County. The bridegroom attended State College, and is connected with the Tarboro Motor Company. At home Leggetts.

Helen M. Hight '31 to Samuel Walter Davis, Jr., June 16, at the home of the bride's mother, Henderson. Only members of the immediate families were present. For the past two years Helen has been a member of the Greensboro junior high school faculty. Her friends there are welcoming her back as a resident of the city. Mr. Davis is an alumnus of the University of North Carolina, and is associated with his father in the furniture business in Greensboro.

Evelyn Margaret Pollard '31 to Guy Aytch York, August 27, at the home of the bride's parents, Virgilina, Va. For the past two years Evelyn has been teaching in the high school at Seagrove. The bridegroom, a graduate of Elon College, is also a member of the Seagrove faculty. At home there.

Peggy Ann Williams '31 to J. D. W. Hubbeling, October 7, Trinity Episcopal Church, Asheville. Easter lilies and white cosmos provided simple but effective decoration for the lovely church, a unique feature being the use of the American and Dutch flags on either side of the chancel. A program of organ music included "Impromptu in A Flat Minor," Schubert; "Drink To Me Only with Thine Eyes," Mozart; "Venetian Love Song," Nevin; "Prelude in A Major," Chopin; and "Berceuse," from "Joscelyn," by Godard. Peggy Ann wore the traditional wedding gown of white satin, princess style, with a tulle veil arranged coronet fashion. At the chancel steps the betrothal service was conducted, the party then proceeded forward to the altar rail where the vows were spoken. The ceremony was followed by a reception given by the bride's mother, with relatives and closest friends attending. Virginia (Terrell) Lathrop '23 was among those who assisted in serving. Since her graduation the bride has been secretary to the chief chemist of the American Enka Corporation, from which post she recently resigned. The bridegroom is a chemical engineer, with a degree from the University of Delft, Delft, Holland. For a number of years he has been connected with the Enka organization, first in Holland, later in Italy, and for nearly two years with the American Corporation, as assistant chief chemist. After a honeymoon by motor in the North, they are at home in Enka.

Ann Elizabeth Brown '32 to William Orin Blandford, August 16, Presbyterian Church, Blacksburg, Va. The bridegroom is a graduate of West Point, and the wedding was marked by military features. The bride wore a formal gown of white mousseline de soie, with veil and coronet of satin. Among the bridesmaids were Alyce Fuller '32, and Sue Horner. After a wedding trip by motor, they are at home at Fort Thomas, Ky.

Anne Elizabeth Henley '32 to Albert Glenn Stevens, June 11, Cheraw, S. C. Last year Anne managed the cafeteria in the Hugh Morson High School, Raleigh, and taught classes in home economics. The bridegroom has been connected with the Standard Oil Company for several years. At home Raleigh.

Pansy Avery McConnell '32 to Richard L. Dandridge Hood, August 12, New York City. In the summer after her graduation, Pansy was awarded a fellowship at the New York School of Social Service, and has been studying there since that time. She served as president of the Student Government Association during her senior year in college, and was also elected to take the part of "Service" in the annual Park Night exercises held during commencement. At home New York City.

Ruby Lee Anderson ex-'33 to Dr. K. L. Cloninger, June 29, Saint Andrew's Episcopal Church, Greensboro. Ruby Lee was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by a dame of honor, a maid of honor, and four bridesmaids. Nancy Steele, daughter of Rouss (Hayes) Steele '20, was flower girl. A recital of organ numbers was rendered as a prelude to the entrance of the wedding party. Ruby Lee wore a stately gown of heavy white satin, cut princess style, flaring into a long train. The lace cap was fitted to the head with a band of orange blossoms. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, and received his M.D. degree from the University of Maryland. He is a member of Theta Kappa Psi fraternity. At home Conover, where Dr. Cloninger is a practising physician.

Helen Horner '33 to Edmund L. Curlee, First Christian Church, October 14, Burlington. Only relatives and close friends were present. Helen wore a travel costume of brown, with matching accessories. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, and was president of the glee club while a student. He is a practising attorney in Burlington, where they are at home.

Gladys L. Outlaw '33 to John Williams Pearman, May 10, Danville, Va. Gladys completed the work for her degree in the summer of 1932, and taught last year in Bethany School, Roekingham County. After a bridal trip spent in Western North Carolina, they are at home in Summerfield.

Naoma Cline '30-'33 to W. H. Collins, September 6, Bethany Lutheran Church, Hickory.

Mary Vance Holt '31-'33 to Lawrence Keck, July 30, First Methodist Church Hillsville, Va. The bridegroom is connected with the Curtis Publishing Company, with headquarters in Charlotte. He is a graduate of Girard College and of Temple University, and is a member of Sigma Lambda Nu fraternity. At home Charlotte.

Frances Pauline Grantham '32-'33 to Samuel Lefferts Dill, III, August 19, Washington, D. C. After a wedding journey to New York, they returned to New Bern, where they are at home.

Virginia Price '32-'33 to Hugh Parks Bryant, Jr., August 15, in the home of the bride, Ocilla, Ga. At home Greensboro.

Odessa Trieste '32-'33 to J. W. Beville, Jr. Greene Street Baptist Church, High Point, August 29. The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Florida, and a member of Sigma Tau, honorary engineering fraternity. At home Gainesville, Florida, where Mr. Beville is engaged in business.

Births

To Mr. and Mrs. T. Waugh (Ada Elizabeth Hanner '19-'20), a daughter, Martha Elizabeth, August 8, Greensboro.

To Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Barbee (Gladys Newman '21), a son, Newman Barbee, August 18, Bahama.

To Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Hallenbeck (Mabel Stamper '22), a second daughter, Janet Louise, Sunday, October 7, Hartford, Conn.

To Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hickson (Florence Kirkman '23), a daughter, June 12, Washington City.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Grant, Jr. (Kathleen Windley '24), a daughter, Kathleen Windley, October 9, Baytown, Texas.

To Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gordon, Jr. (Mary Polk '26), a son, Albert Claude, October 12, Sternberger Children's Hospital, Greensboro.

To Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Scott (Ellen Stone '26), a second child, a son, Arthur A., Jr., June 23, Goldsboro.

To Dr. and Mrs. P. R. Taylor (Mildred Trantham '28), a son, Preston Reeves Taylor, Jr., October 20, Mount Holly.

To Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McCulloch (Wilma Coble '29), a daughter, Wilma Joyce, August 12, Nashville, Tenn.

To Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Hodgkin (Kathryn Brown '29), a son, John Edwin, August 16, Wesley Long Hospital, Greensboro.

To Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Sprinkle (Edna Rice '29), a son, Hollis Frederick, December 20, 1932, Marshall.

To Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. LeConte (Delia McRimmon '32), a son, William Louis, early in September, Atlanta, Ga. Delia died a few days after the birth of the child, who is living and doing well.

To Mr. and Mrs. Joe Showfety (Camille McKinney '30-'32), a son, April 8, Sternberger Hospital, Greensboro.

To Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Thornton (Elva Baker '32), a daughter, Edith Mozelle, July 29, in Fayetteville.

To Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bell (Rebecca Rabun '32), a daughter, Henrietta, July 13, Greensboro.

Founder's Day Messages

From the Governor of North Carolina: I only wish it were possible for me to be present on Thursday next, at the time of your special college birthday exercises. The great institution of which you are a part has done a work in North Carolina which has endeared it to all people and it is carrying on now in the face of the deprivations and difficulties which the depression has wrought. In extending my own birthday greetings I wish also to commend this fine attitude and give expression to the confident hope that the future holds an even greater promise of service and progress. With every assurance of my sympathetic interest and concern, I am, sincerely yours, J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Raleigh.

From the President of the General Alumnae Association: We, the alumnae, join with you in a rededication to the ideals which are responsible for the founding and the continued growth and service of our college. We believe that through our loyalty to these ideals, the state is justified in its policy of training its women for their responsibilities as citizens. Such training, based upon the highest ideals of private and public service,

It's a Darling Dress if
It Comes from

THE DARLING SHOP
106 South Elm Street

Visit our
MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

Always a complete showing of the smartest Hats for the college girl!

Ellis Stone & Co

NEW COATS NEW DRESSES NEW HATS

Presented by
Fashion's Newest Shop

Prago's
LADIES READY-TO-WEAR

Phone 2-2248

120 South Elm St.

will, inevitably, produce a more worthy and a happier people. You have, today, not only our love, but our faith.—Josie (Doub) Bennett '06, President, Rocky Mount.

Best wishes for our college and its noble President.—Em Austin, Tarboro.

Greetings! May the founder's supreme courage abide with you always.—Iola Exum '97, Mary Exum '07, Snow Hill.

To the entire college family we send our love, greetings, and hearty good wishes for a fresh new year that shall bring blessings in abundance. May our alma mater continue to be a beacon light of hope and inspiration to Carolina's womanhood.—Anne Holdford, Laura Howard '20, Louise Campbell '19, Annie Cherry '12, New York City.

I send love and best wishes to my alma mater.—Sybil (Barrington) Corbett '20, Fayetteville.

Love to my alma mater on her birthday.—Theresa (Marks) Condrey '28, Littleton.

Caldwell County Association. Heartiest greetings to our college.—Ella M. Hayes, chairman, Lenoir.

Danville Alumnae Club. Best wishes and kindest remembrances on your birthday.—Katie Pridgen '17, chairman, Danville, Va.

Davidson County Association. We pledge anew love and loyalty to our alma mater.—Alma (Hedrick) Crowell '19, chairman, Lexington.

Duplin County Association. We pledge our support in this movement to bring us out of the dark. We are willing "to come up from the crowd" to do our part.—Louise (Kornegay) Boney, chairman, Kenansville; Margaret (Blakeney) Blair, secretary, Wallace.

Forsyth County Association. We send you love and good wishes.—Evelyn (Gordon) Ripple '28, Winston-Salem.

High Point Association. Cordial greetings and best wishes.—Edna (Bigham) Ross '25, chairman.

Lee County Association. Congratulations to our alma mater on her forty-first birthday.—Aileen (Hunt) Jackson '27, chairman, Sanford.

Norfolk-Portsmouth Alumnae Club. Greetings and best wishes.—Jennie Eagle '99, chairman, Norfolk, Va.

Northampton County Association. We send love to alma mater.—Ruth (Vick) Everett '21, chairman, Seaboard.

Richmond Alumnae Club. Happy birthday, alma mater! Your Richmond girls send you greetings.—Hilda (Weil) Wallerstein '26, secretary, Richmond, Va.

Rocky Mount Alumnae Club. All good wishes from Rocky Mount and Nash chapter.—Mary Arrington '95, chairman, Rocky Mount.

Rowan County Association. Always our thoughts and hearts are turning to you on this Founder's Day. We send heartiest congratulations and fondest of memories. We are always ready to render to you our service.—Mildred (Williams) Burke '27, secretary, Salisbury.

Stanly County Association. We send love and greetings for Founder's Day.—Louise (Whitley) Rice '15, Badin.

LADY FAIR SHOP, INC.

Telephone 5635 114 Jefferson Building
Facial Treatment—Primrose House Cosmetics
Scalp Treatment—Parker Herbex System
Manicuring Hair Cutting
Greensboro, North Carolina

MINIATURES PORTRAITS FRAMING

Special Prices to U. N. C. Students

THE FLYNT STUDIO

GREENSBORO, N. C.

KING COTTON HOTEL

GREENSBORO, N. C.

250 ROOMS

250 BATHS

Odell Hardware Company

"The Carolinas' Greatest Hardware and Sporting Goods House"

GREENSBORO, N. C.

Come to Wills for:

GREETING CARDS
GIFTS
STATIONERY

BOOKS
RENTAL LIBRARY
SCHOOL SUPPLIES

Wills Book & Stationery Co.

107 S. Greene St.

Greensboro, N. C.

Wilson County Association. We salute you, alma mater. May you stronger, finer grow.—Nancy Gray '30, secretary, Wilson.

Class of 1908. Greetings. We do our part.—Bright (Ogburn) Hoyle, Charlotte.

Class of 1914. On behalf of our class I wish to pledge anew our loyalty to our college and to assure you of our great appreciation of those of you who are so faithfully "standing by" through these days of turmoil and adjustment. May our college continue to grow in usefulness and service to the state is our wish and expectation.—Iris (Holt) McEwen, Burlington.

Class of 1916. We, 100 per cent NRA's—Newly Reconstructed Alumnae, are trying to do our part to be worthy of our college heritage!—Annie (Beam) Funderburk, secretary, Chapel Hill; Annie (Spainhour) Walker, president, Morgantown.

Class of 1917. Though scattered, we unite today in deep devotion.—Flossie (Harris) Spruill, secretary, Lexington.

Class of 1918. Again it is our privilege to send greetings and good wishes to alma mater. We are proud of the achievements of our college and of the loyalty and courage of the faculty in the face of difficulties.—Marie (Lineberger) Richardson, president, Reidsville.

Class of 1920. Our class sends greetings. We are scattered far but the spirit of the college always finds us.—Margaret Lawrence, New York, N. Y.

Class of 1921. And as we serve our hearts ever turn, O college dear, to thee.—Mildred (Barrington) Poole, Fayetteville.

Class of 1923. Greetings and best wishes to the college on its birthday.—Mary Sue (Beam) Fonville, Raleigh.

paris fashions
fifth avenue

Over 100
of America's Most Beautiful
Styles

PEGGIE HALE
206 South Elm Street

KENDALL

THE PRINTER

216 N. Elm St. Greensboro, N. C.

DR. W. PERRY REAVES

EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT

OFFICE AND INFIRMARY

117 W. Sycamore St. Greensboro, N. C.

Office Hours
8:30—1:00
2:00—4:00

Telephones
Office 4312
Infirmary 4024

JOS. J. STONE & COMPANY

Printers and Bookbinders

Everything for the office

225 South Davie Street

GREENSBORO, N. C.

Class of 1925. I wish to express to Dr. Foust, the faculty, and the student body the best wishes of our class on this glad occasion.—Mae Graham, secretary, High Point.

Class of 1926. Love and best wishes for a happy Founder's Day.—Georgia Kirkpatrick, president, Raleigh.

Class of 1931. Very best wishes to our college on Founder's Day.—Mary Jane Wharton, president, New Haven, Conn.

Greetings to students and faculty of our college on Founder's Day.—Helen Petrie, secretary, Lenoir.

Class of 1932. Fondest remembrances to all.—Margaret Church, secretary, Rutherford College.

Class of 1933. You may be sure that the members of the Class of '33 are thinking of you—faculty and students—on Founder's Day. This is the first one we have missed in four years, you know.—Mildred Brunt, president, Winston-Salem.

May the best of colleges have the best of birthdays. Greetings from the Class of 1933.—Ernestine Halyburton, secretary, New London, Conn.

Heartiest congratulations to my alma mater on Founder's Day.—Marian Anderson '32, New York City.

Birthday greetings to a college which gets wiser and better every year. Best wishes to the people who make it so.—Pansy (McConnell) Hood '32, Constance Lam '33, New York City.

Congratulations and best wishes to Woman's College.—Caldwell Hoyle '33, Sara Yelverton '33, Red Springs.

Just in case the depression is still on when you graduate take a little home economics on the side! Best wishes to all.—Pete (Taylor) Stevens '33, Elizabeth City.

On this day our hearts all turn, O College dear, to you.—Helen Oliver '17, Louise Black '18, Zelma Clark '27, Mildred Reed '27, Wren Duncan '29, Amy Newcomb '32, Lucile Freeman '33, Fairmont.

Congratulations to our dear alma mater on her forty-first birthday from the alumnae at Samarcand Manor.—Reva Mitchell '32, Kate Tucker '32, Mary Deese '32, Wilna Shinn '33, Daisy Young '33, Samarcand.

Eight loyal girls from Gray Dormitory send their greetings on this Founder's Day.—Unsigned.

School of Nursing of Yale University

A Profession for the College Woman

The thirty months' course, providing an intensive and varied experience through the case study method, leads to the degree of

BACHELOR OF NURSING

Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. Beginning in 1934 a Bachelor's degree will be required. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.

For catalog and information address:

THE DEAN, YALE SCHOOL OF NURSING
New Haven, Connecticut

Beautifully Waved Hair is Woman's Crowning Glory

OUR BEAUTY SERVICE IS SATISFYING AND LASTING

SHAMPOO AND FINGER WAVE, 50c

PERMANENTS, FROM $3.50 TO $8.00

ELITE BEAUTY SHOP

Phone 9725

526 N. C. Bank Building

